new challenges

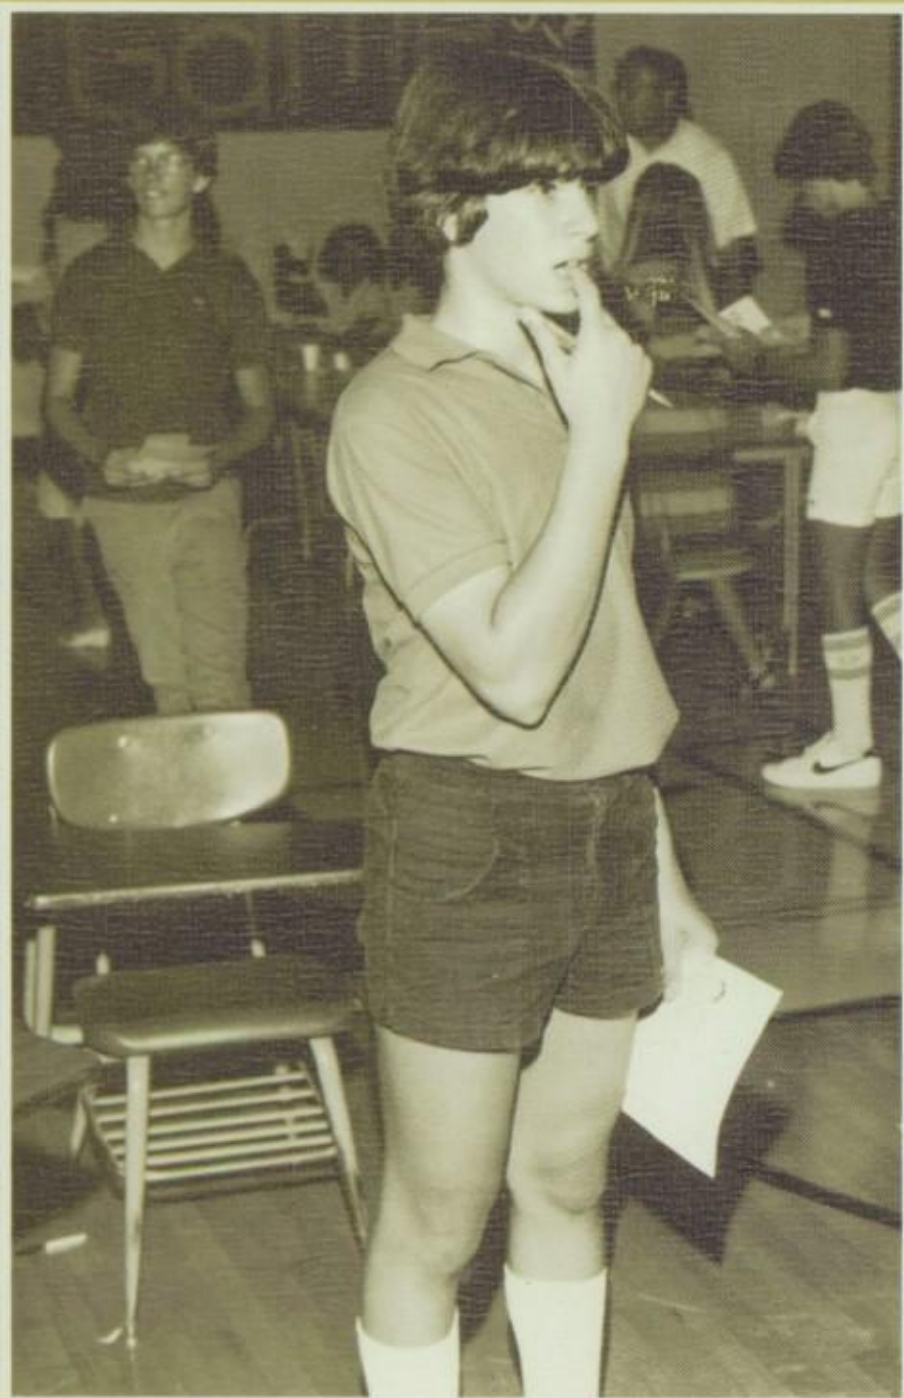

The New Frontier of which I speak is not a set of promises — it is a set of challenges.

— John F. Kennedy

High School — The New Frontier? To many students Foothill High was indeed a New Frontier. It was a frontier that offered many new experiences and new challenges.

Beginning at registration students met the challenge of deciding for themselves what classes to take with what teachers. Also during freshman English another major challenge was met — the three part essay! Although the essay was not easily conquered, Foothill students approached it like the heroes that they are. Socially the inevitable first date was an experience that everyone faced, no matter how embarrassing the situation became.

To meet a new challenge or to surmount an obstacle is a sign of inner strength. At Foothill students who met the challenge of high school should regard themselves as heroes.

spirit and unity

Those who say we're in a time where there are no heroes ...
They just don't know where to look.

— President Ronald Reagan
Inaugural Address, 1981

The newspapers said that it would be a close game, but they were giving 2-1 odds that the undefeated and unscored upon Villa Park Football Team would sneak by the Knights.

At Northrup Field, the Spartans scored a field goal on their first rally before a standing room only crowd. That would be the last time they would get close enough to their goal to score. The Knights came alive and dominated the remainder of the game, winning 24-3.

At times such as this, the team and the school felt like heroes because their spirit and unity pulled through, allowing a victory.

When one speaks of spirit and unity, the student leaders, who gave up their weekends, the pep squad, who never let the spirit die, and the band, who always remained united cannot be forgotten.

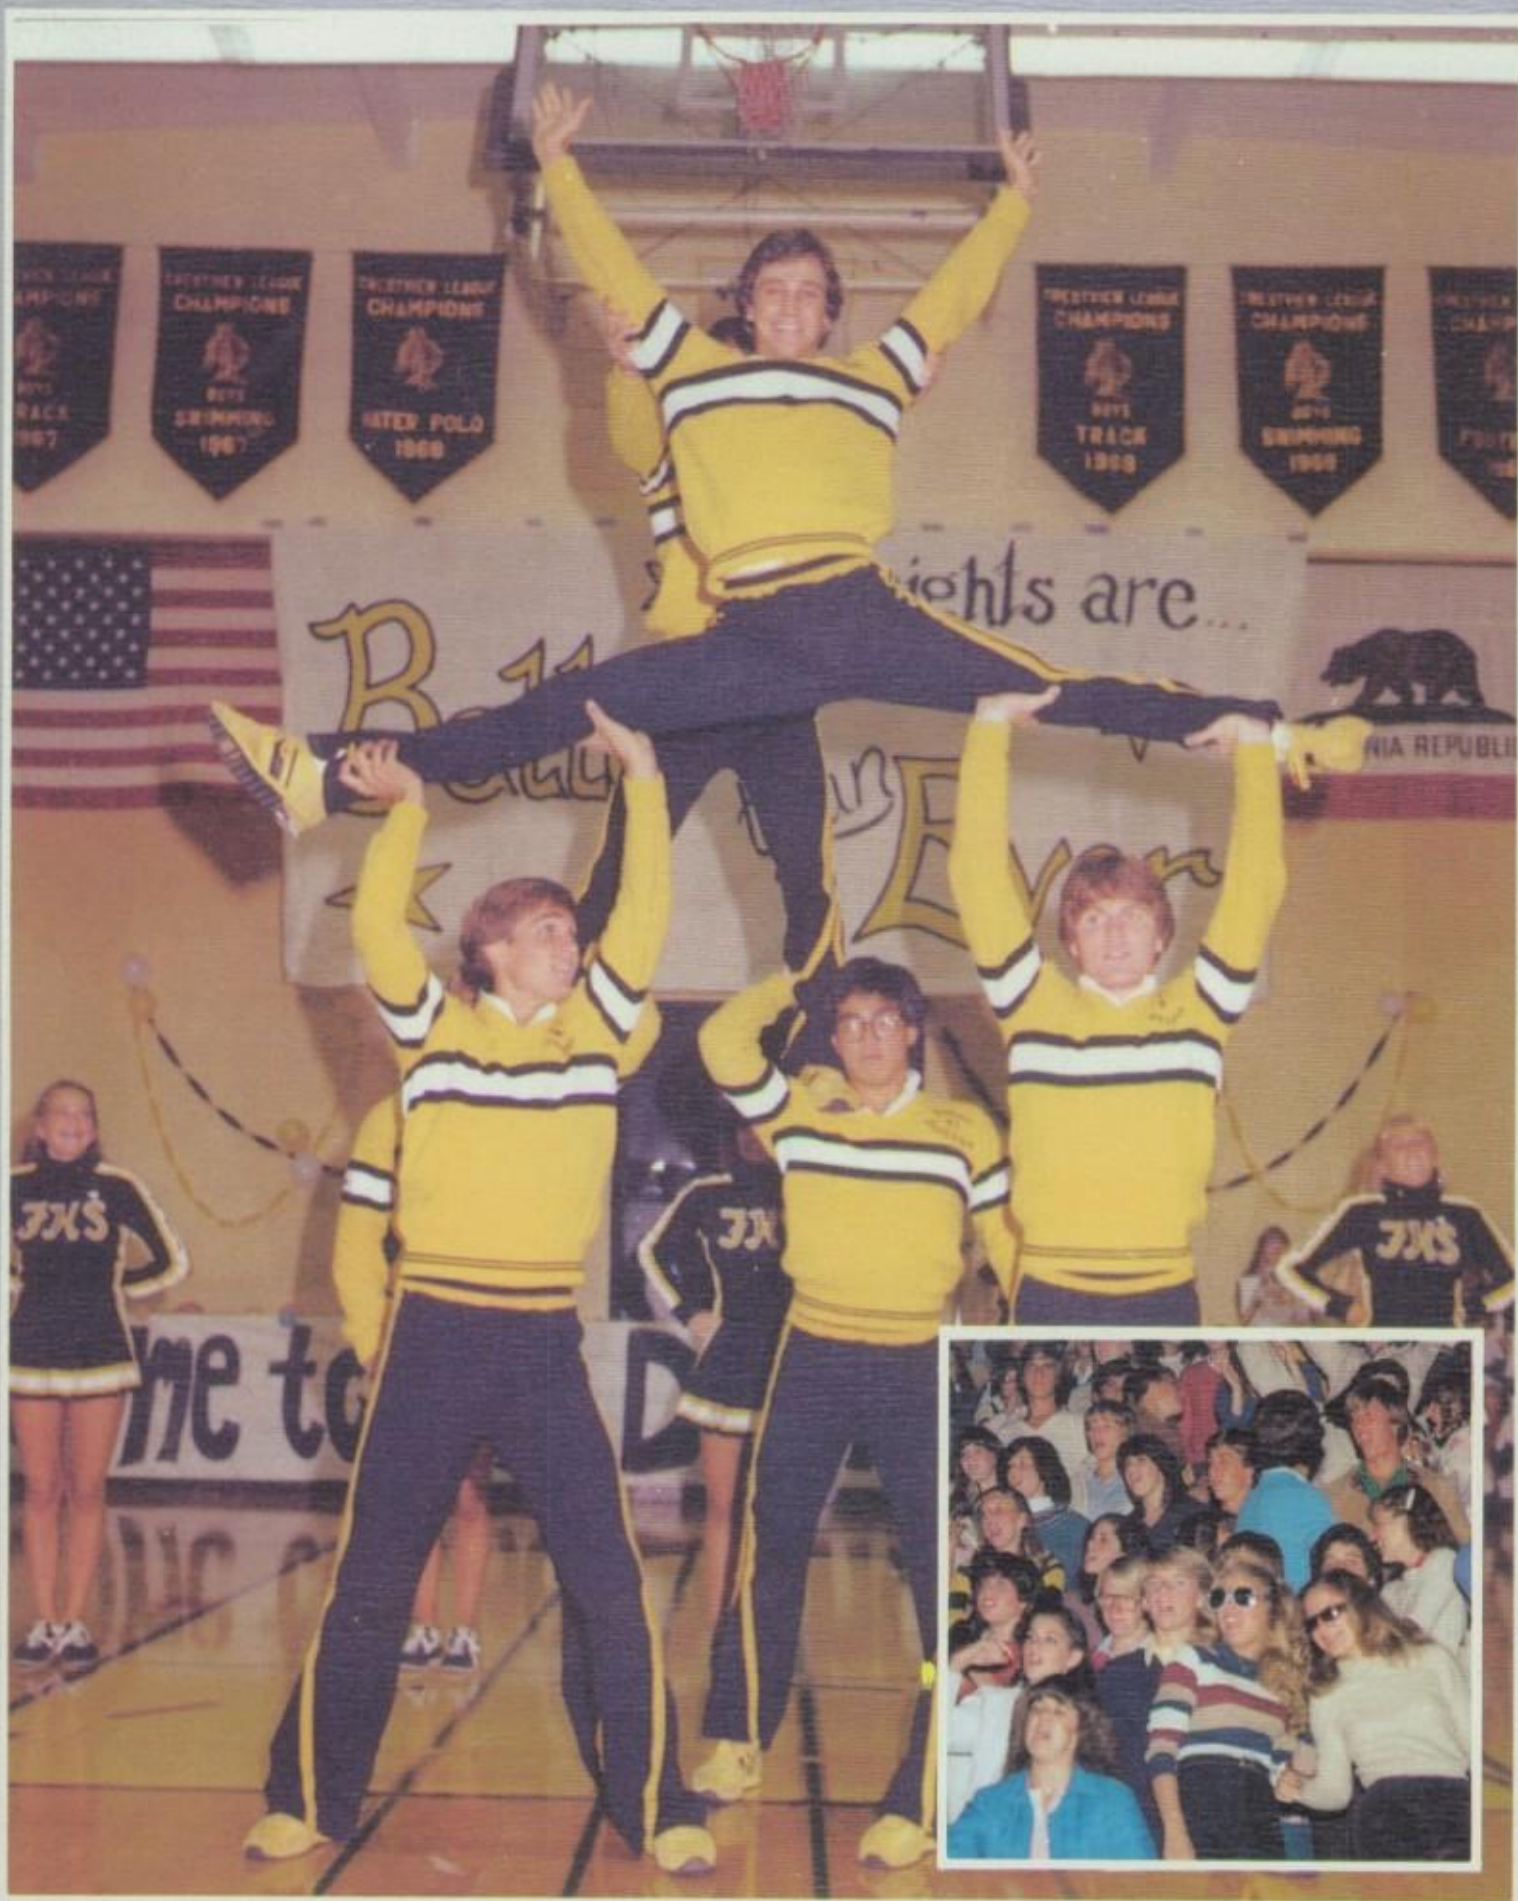

Most importantly though, one must always remember that it is very easy to find a hero ... just look in the mirror.

making friends

In the life of every young person the most essential thing for happiness is friendship.

— Harvey Cushing

This was certainly true for students at Foothill. From the freshman year on students relied on friends for happiness and for enjoyment during high school.

But, making friends was not always easy. There was always the possibility of being rejected, hurt, or let down by relying too much on the dependability of a friend.

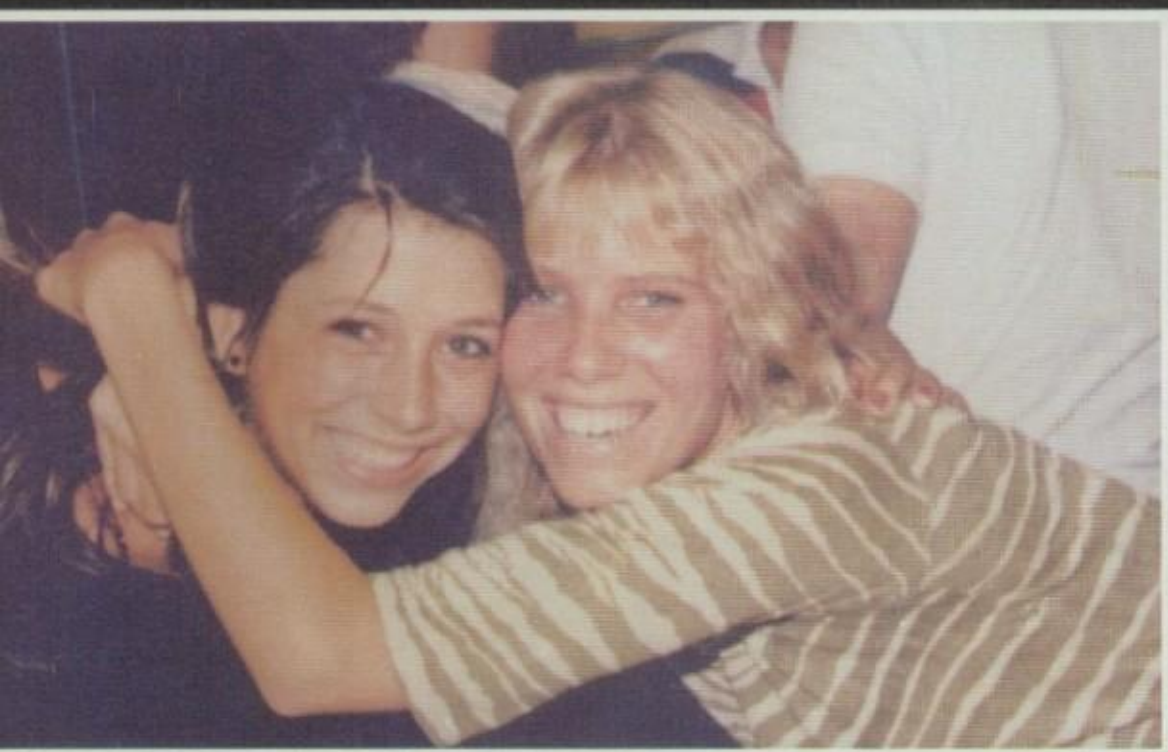

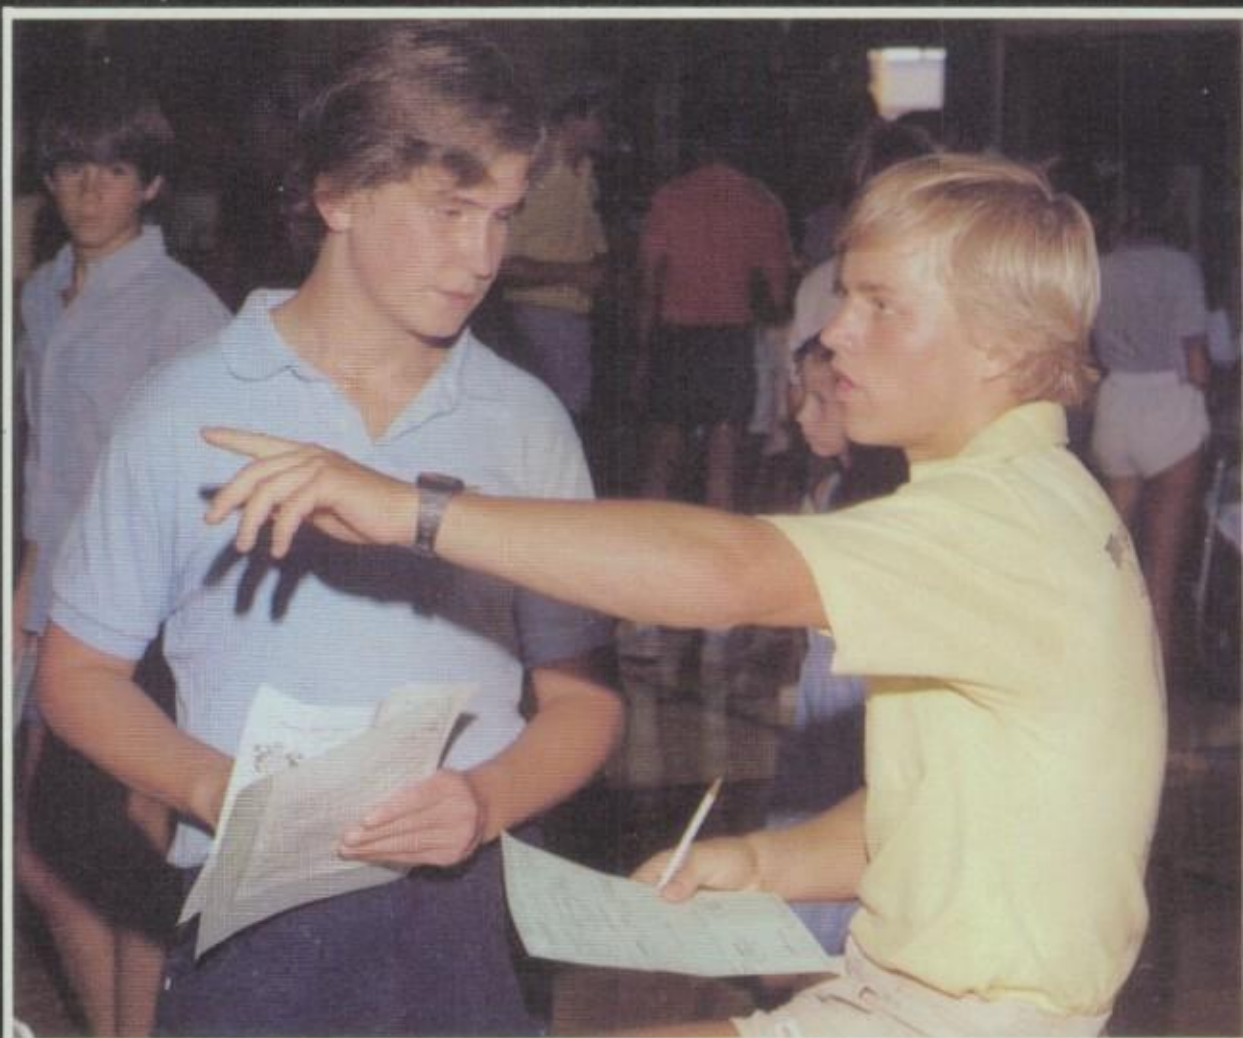

After the uncertainty passed, the good times rolled in. There were the football games on Friday night, dances, rec-nights, and even lunches where happiness was evident.

Gradually friendships evolved, from a free-hearted frolic at school activities, to a deeper relationship outside of the classroom. Those who shouldered the responsibility of being a friend are certainly everyday heroes.

helping out

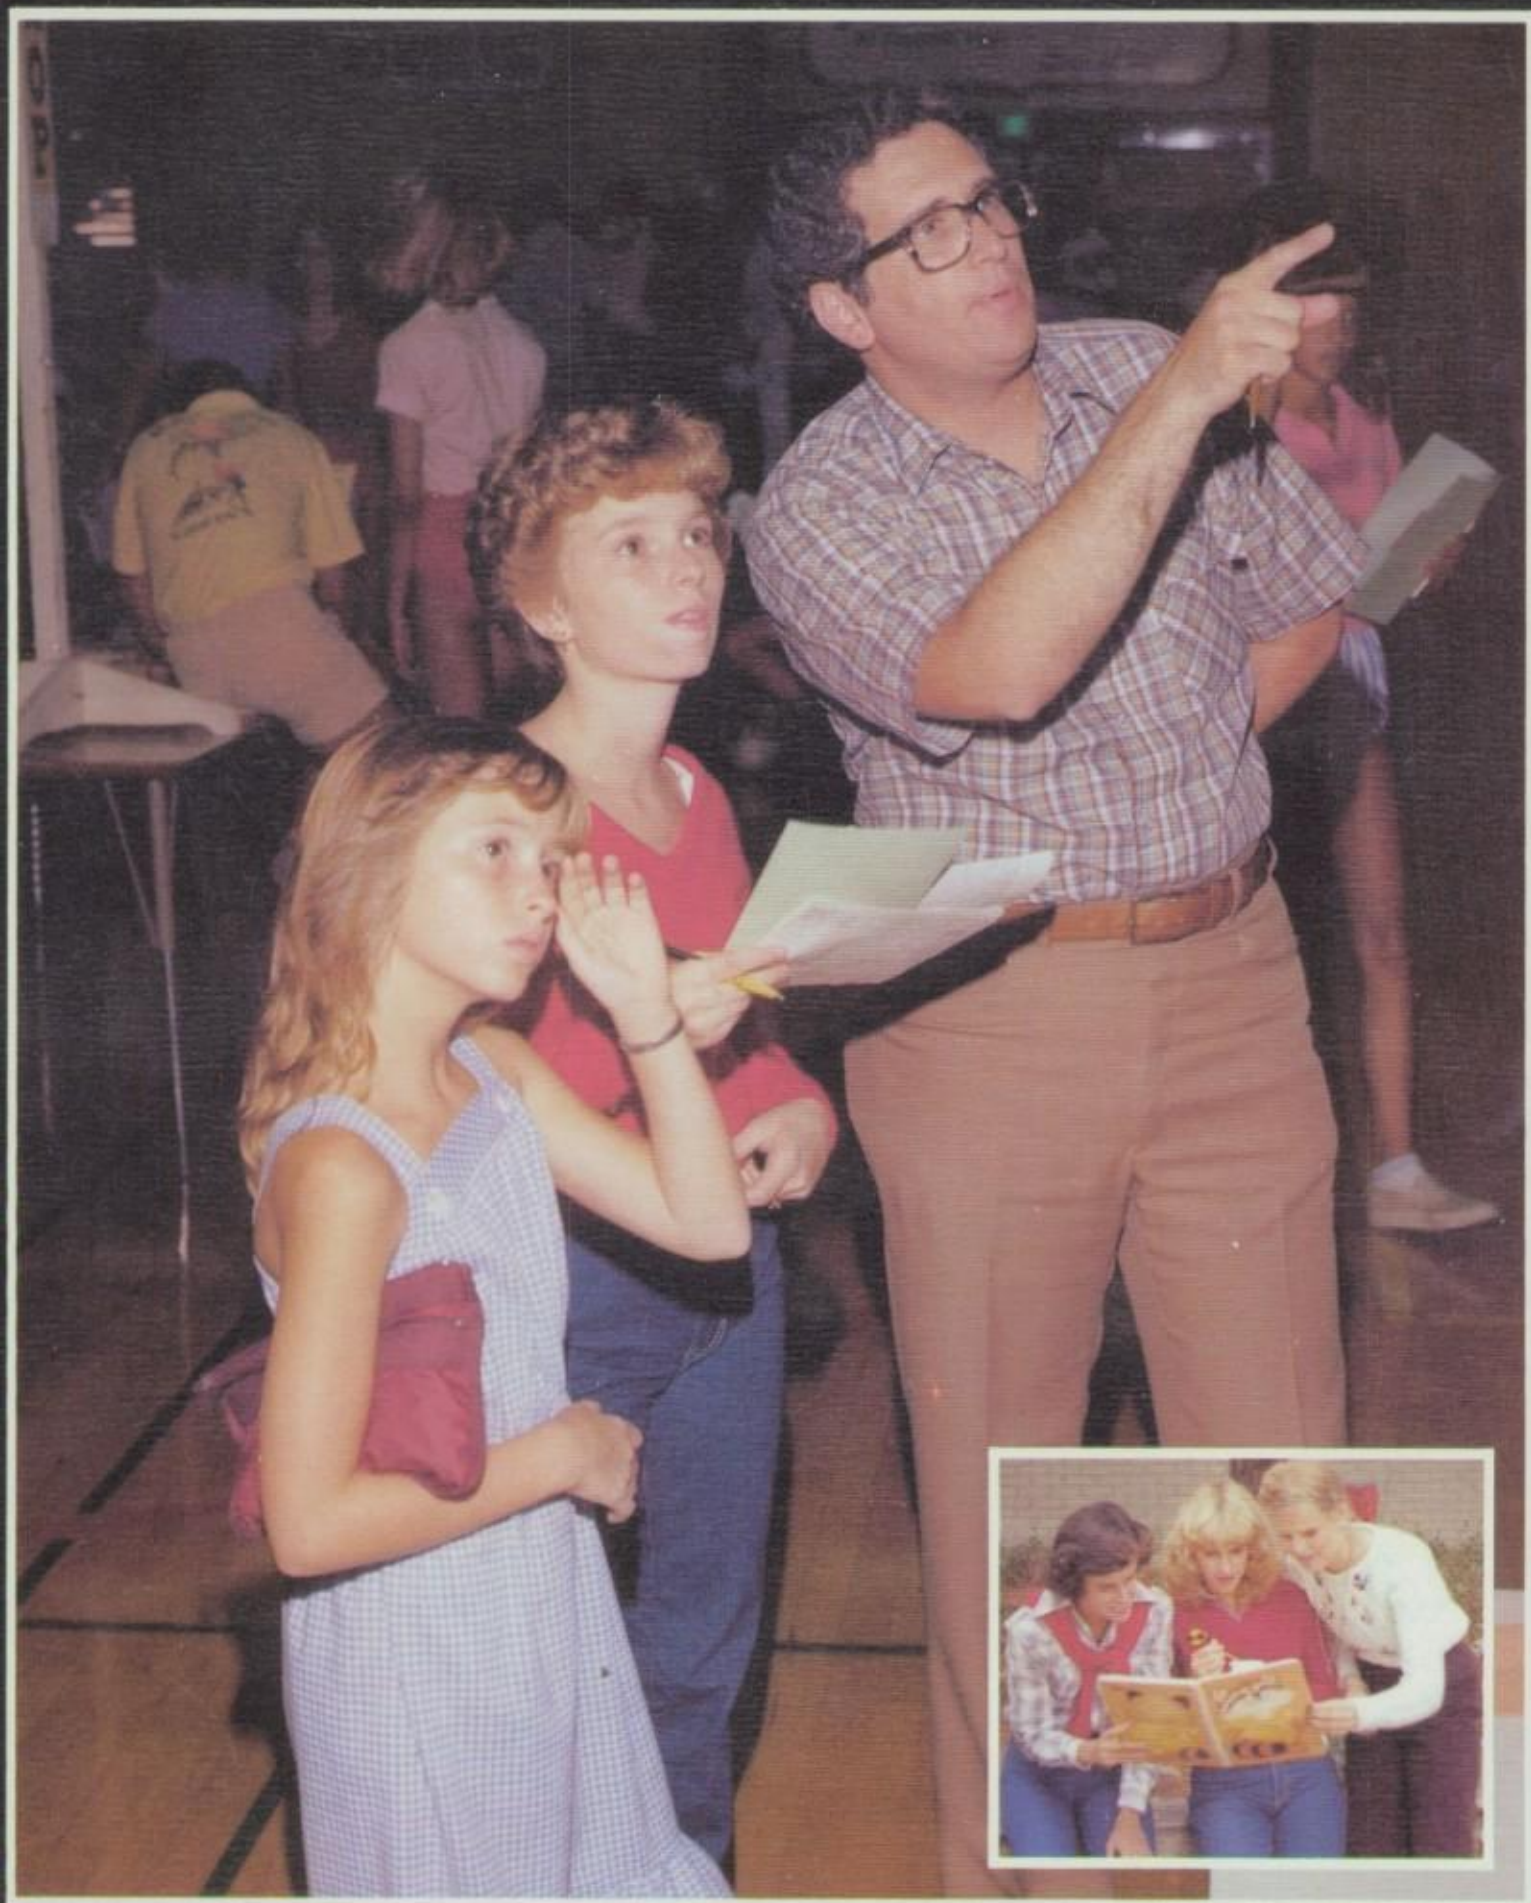

Often we can help each other most by leaving each other alone. At other times we need the hand grasp and the word of cheer.

— Elbert Hubbard

Throughout the four years of high school, students depended on a word of advice or a hug of comfort. As freshmen, many struggled through registration. With the help of teachers, counselors and other students, this first obstacle was overcome.

As high school drew to a close, seniors went to their counselors and teachers for help and advice. Whether it was the question of going to college or simply graduating from high school, there was always someone ready to listen and help out. During high school, help and guidance are always needed and those who take the time to offer help are certainly everyday heroes.

Some men see things as they are and say
 "Why?" I dream things that are not and ask "Why not?"

As students began to set goals, they found that their determination to meet them increased.

Some decided on a certain grade point average they wished to achieve, others wanted to make a varsity team. Everyone has some goal in life, and it was the determination which brought the success that made Foothill students heroes.

By putting in that extra hour at the library or at the weight room, determined students found they were able to meet their goals. For this reason, Foothill students are all everyday heroes.

being unique

Who'er excels in what we prize, Appears a hero in our eyes.

— Jonathan Swift

Whether it was who could stuff five bananas into his mouth in the least amount of time or who could come up with the most outrageous costume for recognition day, Foothill students found something to admire an individual for.

In being unique, the non-conformists at Foothill found that they were heroes for the sole reason that they were individuals. Because each person has different standards and prerogatives, everyone sees a hero in a different guise.

For instance, an athlete may consider Bruce Jenner or Marcus Allen an idol, an actor or actress may think of Al Pacino or Faye Dunaway, and school leaders may idolize President Reagan or Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor. Everyone has his own ideal.

But, there is no one at Foothill who cannot consider himself a hero because he is an individual, and as Swift stated, a hero is someone who excels in what the observer feels is important.

heroes get involved

offered many activities

As in previous years, activities played an important part of school life for students. Beginning with Spirit Week, students dressed according to the theme for their classes. "Crime Doesn't Pay" was the freshmen's theme, and they dressed up as jailbirds, detectives, crooks, and superheroes. The sophomores, one year wiser, participated in Spirit Week by posing from goblins to candy bars in their theme "Halloween." A little bit of the magic kingdom was brought to Foothill's campus with the juniors' theme "Disneyland." The quad was turned into Main Street, U.S.A. Taking a peek into the future, the class of '82 dressed as "Senior Citizens." Throughout the day seniors creaked, wheeled, and shuffled to class.

Finishing off the week, Feast and Joust was a huge success. More students attended than was anticipated. Bosses, and their servants in attendance, were seen everywhere; and other students enjoyed food and drink while watching water polo, chariot races, and the pie eating contest.

Students also enjoyed the school dances. Homecoming, Christmas Formal, Sadie Hawkins, and Prom were all special in their own way and will provide fond memories for years to come. Other popular activities were the senior munches, cheerleading, assemblies, and the many, many clubs.

During half-time, the band and drill team performed intricate moves and difficult formations which added excitement and spirit to the football games. To many students, the activities provided by Foothill were an important part of the school year. The excitement, however, was not in the activities themselves, but in the spirit and energy that Foothill's "everyday heroes" put in to them.

feast and joust ends in victory

What a game! What a queen! What a court! WHAT A KNIGHT! Homecoming was everything everybody hoped it would be. Capping off a funfilled week of student recognition and the Foothill Annual Knight Homecoming Feast and Joust activities, the big game arrived.

The Knights massacred the Canyon Commanches, 44-0, on Friday, Oct. 16, in an awesome contest played by all! Mark Templeton provided a spectacular running display, while the whole defense did an outstanding job, shutting out their opponent.

The game was not the only event on the agenda, however. The traditional presentation of the Homecoming Court and the crowning of the queen, took place during halftime. The queen and her court rode into the stadium and onto the track in Mercedes 240 SLs, and were then escorted onto the field by their proud fathers.

crime doesn't pay

"Freshman Recognition Day went well, but it would have been a little bit better if more people had participated," said Freshman Class President Greg Campbell. "Not as many freshmen as we had hoped dressed up," he continued. Perhaps they were a bit bewildered by this new tradition they were supposed to so eagerly accept. After all, they were still trying to establish themselves in a brand new school.

The theme "Crime Doesn't Pay," left much to the imagination for the participating students.

Roaming the skid row of liquor stores, pool halls, banks, and a jailhouse, small time crooks were in abundance. Innocent freshmen had turned into vicious gangsters, foul kidnapers, and escapees from Alcatraz.

Luckily though, not all had turned to a life of crime. Superheroes such as Batman, Superman, and Shazam were also to be found.

"Next year more kids will dress up. At least we all hope so," said Campbell.

The freshmen who did disguise themselves, whether as a bankrobber or Spiderman, showed the upperclassmen that they had real spirit and everyday heroism.

a bit of the magic kingdom

The junior class dug into their imaginations for a theme for the Junior Recognition Day, and finally they came up with one . . . one of their favorite places . . . Disneyland!!

The quad was a replica of Main Street U.S.A. Colorful buildings wound their way to the crowning glory on the outdoor stage, Sleeping Beauty's Castle.

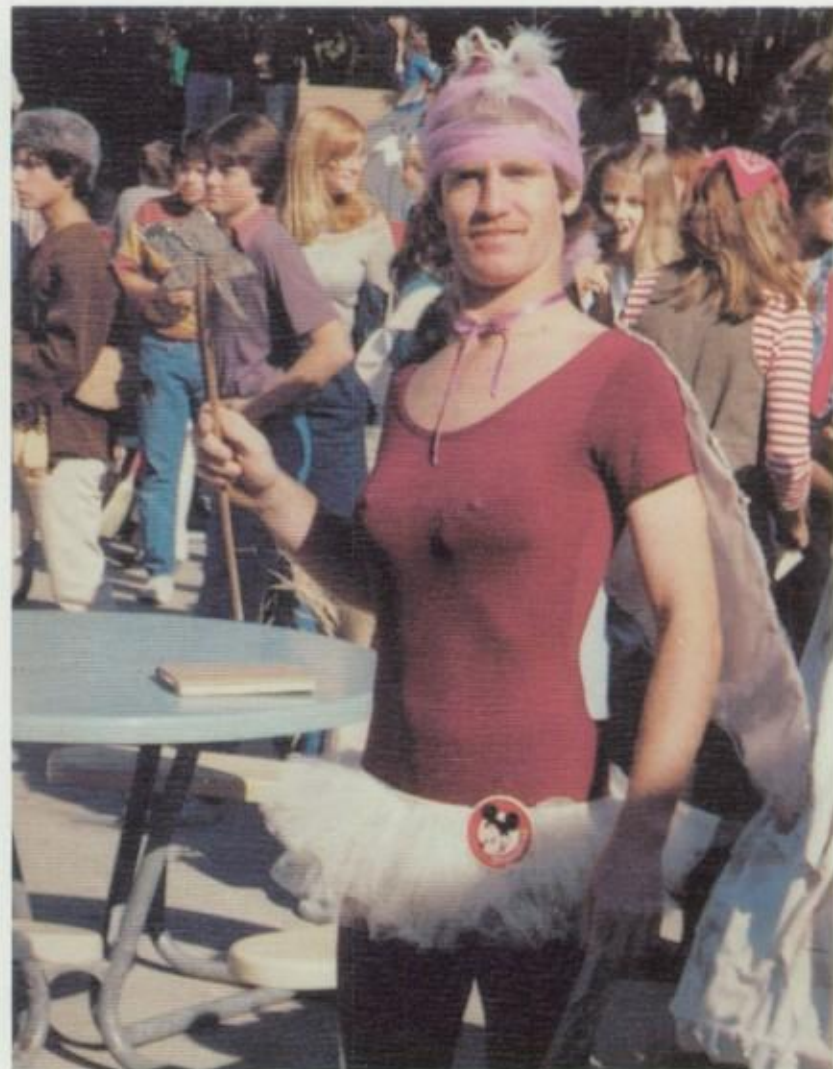

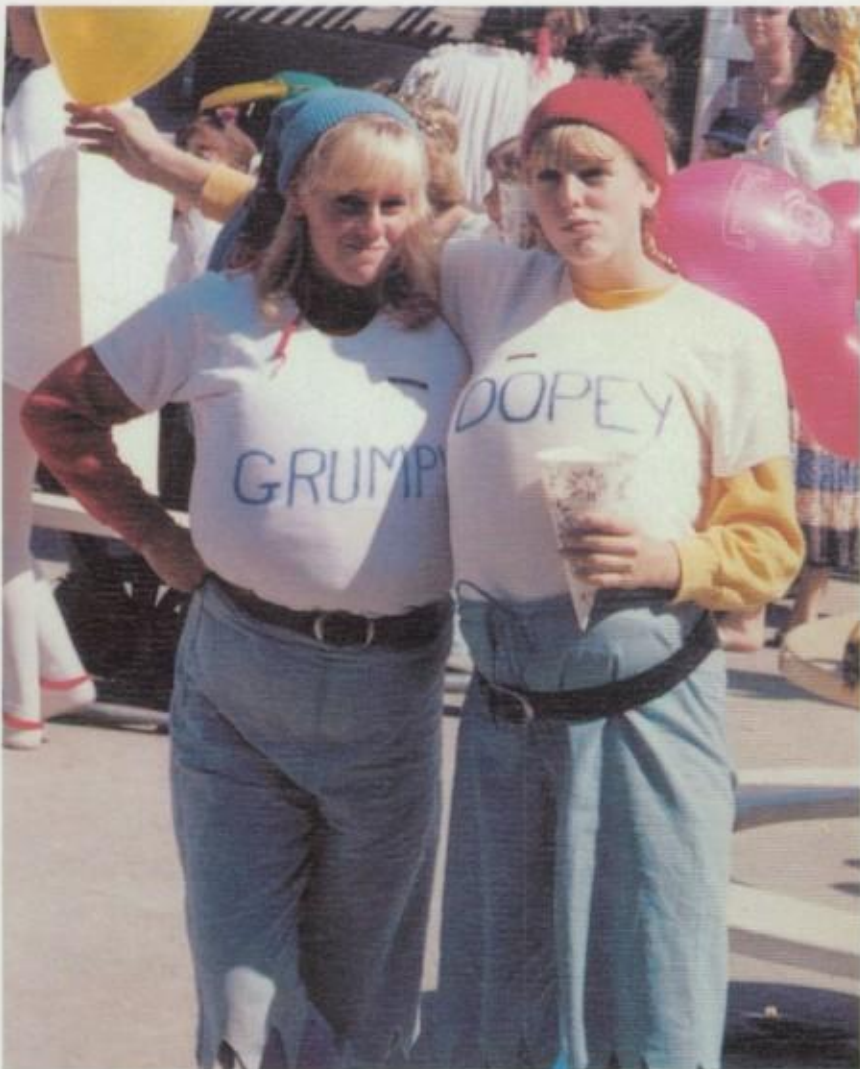

Mickey Mouse balloons and hot buttery popcorn were on sale to enhance the Disneyland-like atmosphere. Characters ranged from Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum, Donald Duck and Tinkerbell to Mary Poppins, Cinderella, and of course Mickey Mouse. However, not everyone was dressed up as a fairy tale favorite. There were also street cleaners, tourists, and even a Matterhorn!!

The Class of 1983 put forth a great effort to make their third recognition day a success and were duly repaid for their endeavors. "This year was better than any year before, but next year we're going to have a better one than we ever had," said Junior Class President, Andy Holden.

"sometimes they scare me"

The theme for the Sophomore Recognition Day was "Halloween," and they took full advantage of it, that is according to sophomore class president Tom Monarch. "Our day ran pretty smoothly and I felt most of the sophomores had a really good time."

The quad was set up with a haunted house, a coffin with a fake corpse, lots of spider webs. Students dressed in almost every costume imaginable from candy bars, to bats, to a group of Ku Klux Klan members.

Lots of help and hard work went into the setups in the quad. Some of the helpers were the council, John and Julie Reynolds, Lisa Thomas, Andrea Boseker's family, council friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Hill and Mr. Githens.

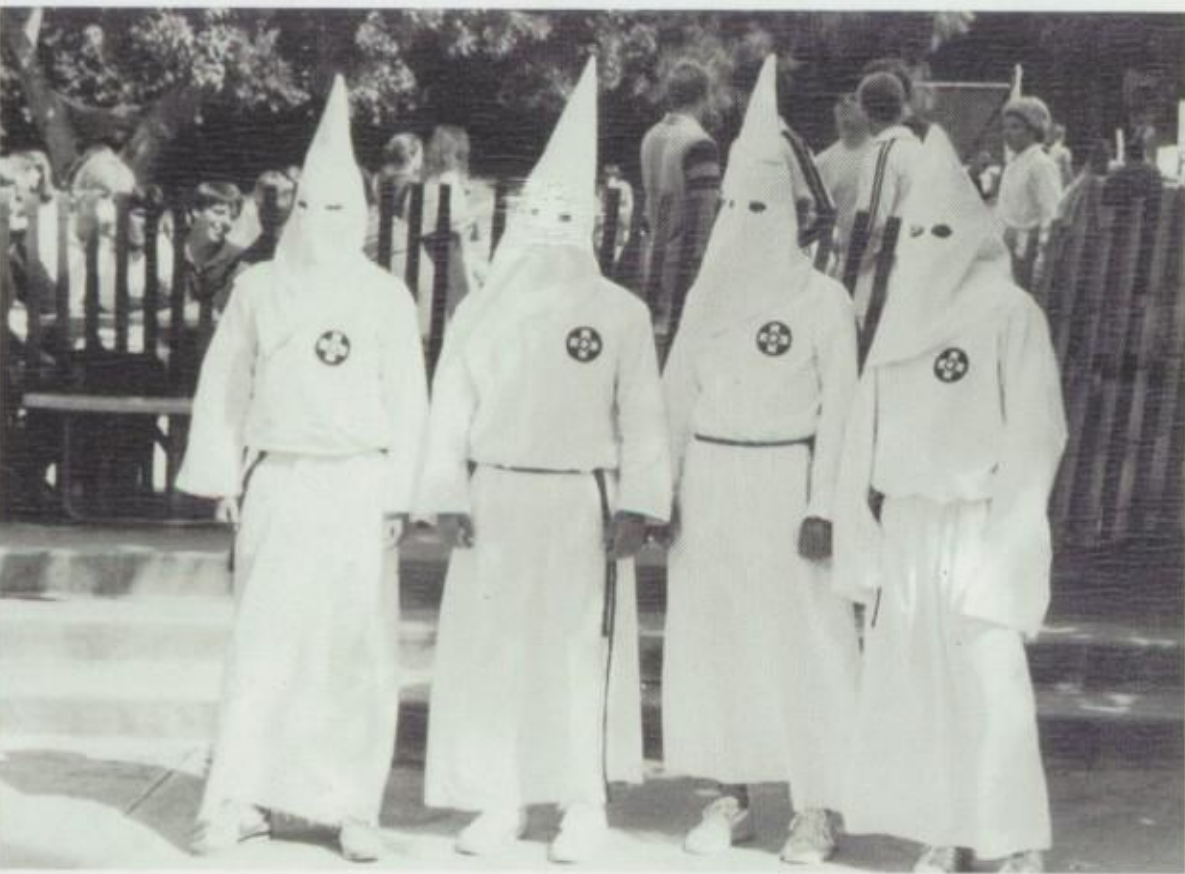

Monarch felt the sophomore class had a lot of spirit and showed great dedication to their class by their participation on their day.

a look at the future

Swinging senior citizens, prunes, and the walking dead were all a part of the Class of 1982's recognition day. Many seniors said that Oct. 15 was Foothill High School's most successful and entertaining Senior Recognition Day.

The quad set the scene for wheelchair races as well as an authentic jazz band. With the quad containing "Old Phart's Pharmacy," a cemetery, and Seizure World props, many seniors participated in this once in a lifetime event.

The majority of seniors sported gray wigs and house slippers; however doctors, nurses, and future senior citizens were also in abundance. Still others dressed as the much needed Preparation H, Efferdent, and Ben-Gay.

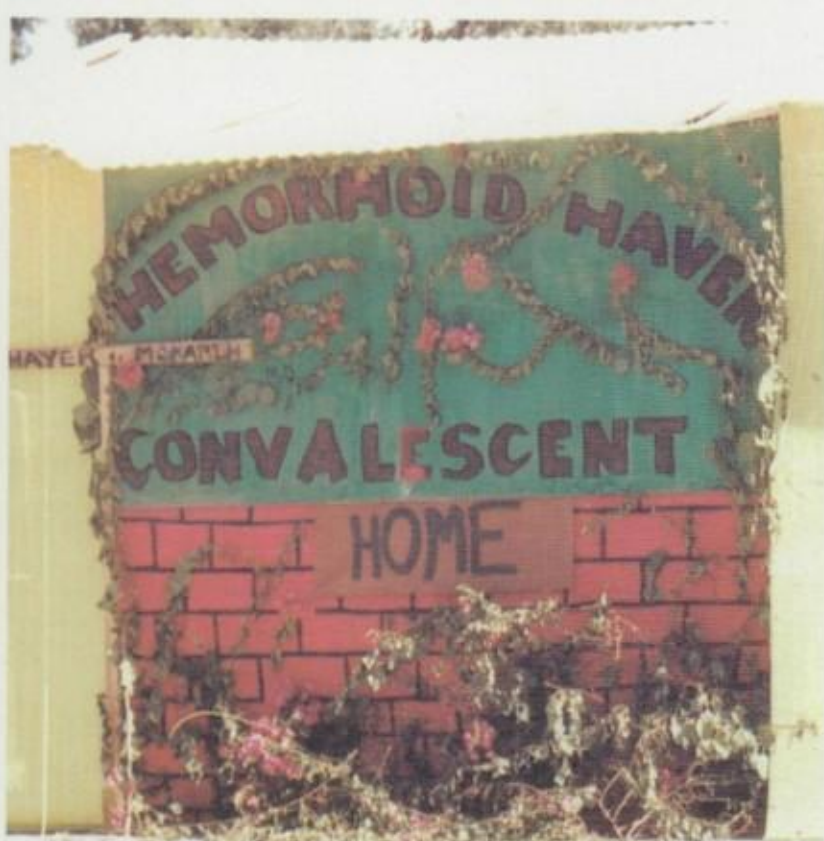

As Lori Biel, a senior, stated, "This year's recognition day was well worth the wait."

servants obey their every command

Foothill High School's Annual Feast and Joust was a huge success that had the seniors dressed in all different types of togas and participating in memorable events from the spirit yell to the chariot race.

Some masters did not participate in certain events; they were content just lying in their chariots, being hand fed, and waited on by their servants. During all of this, other students purchased food and had fun just watching the master/servant activities.

The annual day had a few changes (from slave to servant), and some activities were eliminated, but all the same the masters let the servants know who was boss. Overall it was a memorable day for both the masters and their servants.

Bottom: The royal court consisted of Doug Herbert, Karen Collier, Mark Templeton, Jill McIver, Elaine Braun, Tom Kozak, Laura Bjorklund, Dave Baum, Leanne Johnson, and Mike Reynolds.

Over 250 members of the "Forever Loyal" senior class participated in the voting of the 1981 Homecoming Court in October. "The seniors showed more class spirit and interest in the selection of the 10 member court than any class in years," said Activities Director Al Marzilli.

During halftime festivities at Northrup Field on Oct. 16, the five princesses were escorted, with old fashioned pageantry, onto the field by their fathers. Before an enthusiastic crowd of Foothill students and alumni, Elaine Braun was crowned Foothill High School's 1981 Homecoming Queen.

Although the queen had been chosen, there was much excitement and celebration still ahead. The next evening, at the Homecoming Dance, Tom Kozak was pronounced king.

Other members of the court included Princesses Laura Bjorklund, Karen Collier, Leanne Johnson, and Jill McIver, and Princes Dave Baum, Doug Herbert, Mike Reynolds, and Mark Templeton.

knights come home to foothill

While the Canyon Comanches were still wondering what went wrong the night before, students and alumni of Foothill celebrated their 1981 Homecoming Dance at the Registry Hotel in Newport Beach, on Saturday, October 17.

Over 250 couples participated in the dance which not only made it well attended but also a huge success for everyone involved. Music was provided by the multi-talented band "Surge," and they kept everyone dancing and in good spirits until the early morning when the dance finally wound down.

Highlights of the night included the presentation of the court and the crowning of Tom Kozak as the Homecoming King. Keeping with tradition, Tom was crowned by Elaine Braun, the Homecoming Queen; then they were allowed their "special" dance together.

For many, the memories of the evening were of fun and excitement, a time fondly remembered and cherished, but most of all they will recall that even after the last dance, "Knights are Forever."

active students participate

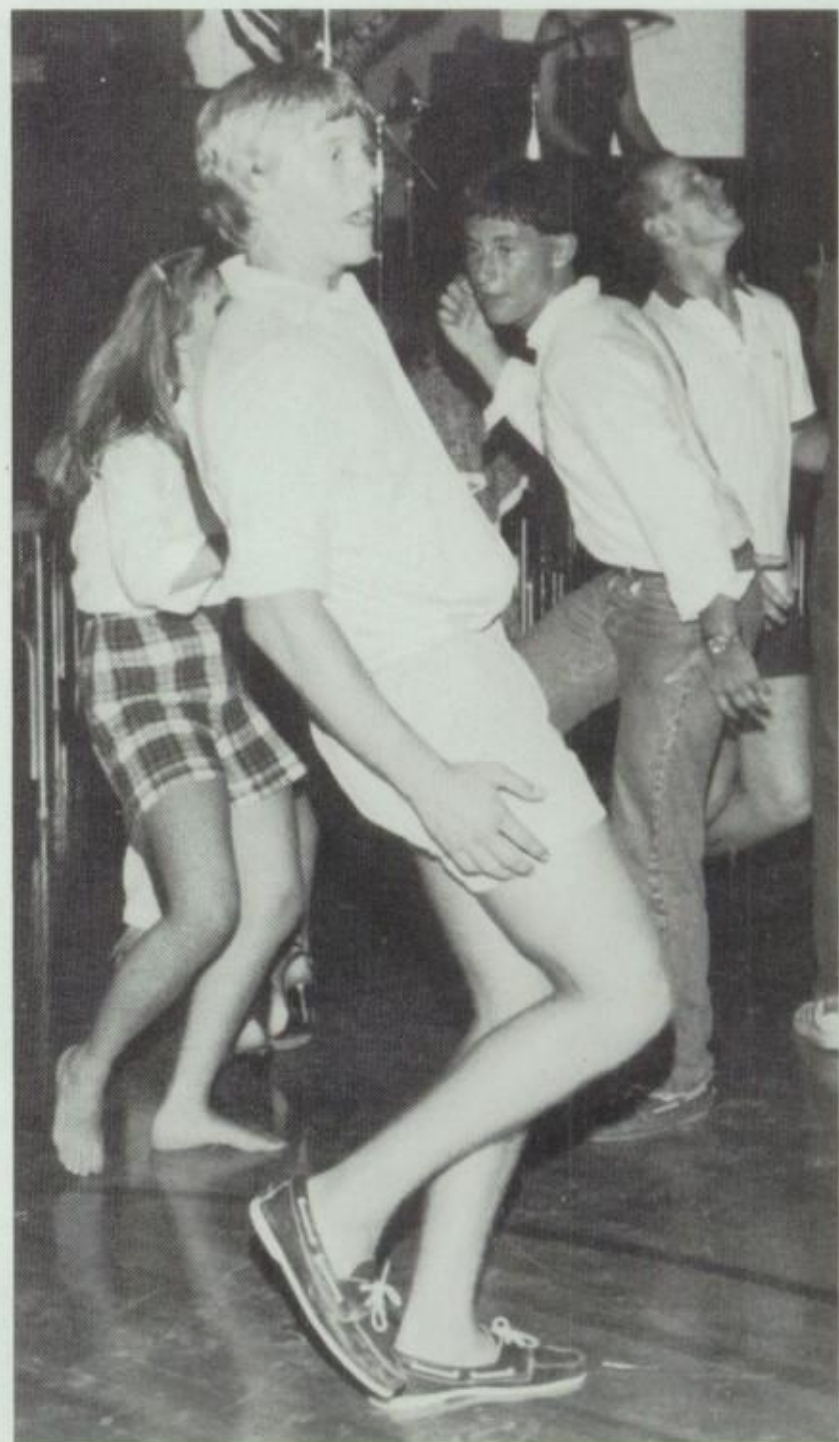

Imagine a football player dressed in a yellow leotard and tutu speaking in Martian. Many would take an aspirin and go to bed, but it happened at the Senior Munch. One of the most popular annual events at Foothill is the munch. The first one of the year was held at Knotts Berry Farm, only a few days before Halloween. Many students dressed up. The 450 students that attended were served burnt muffins, runny eggs, dehydrated potatoes, greasy cold ham and powdered milk. Although the food was not very good (not very good?), the entertainment more than made up for it.

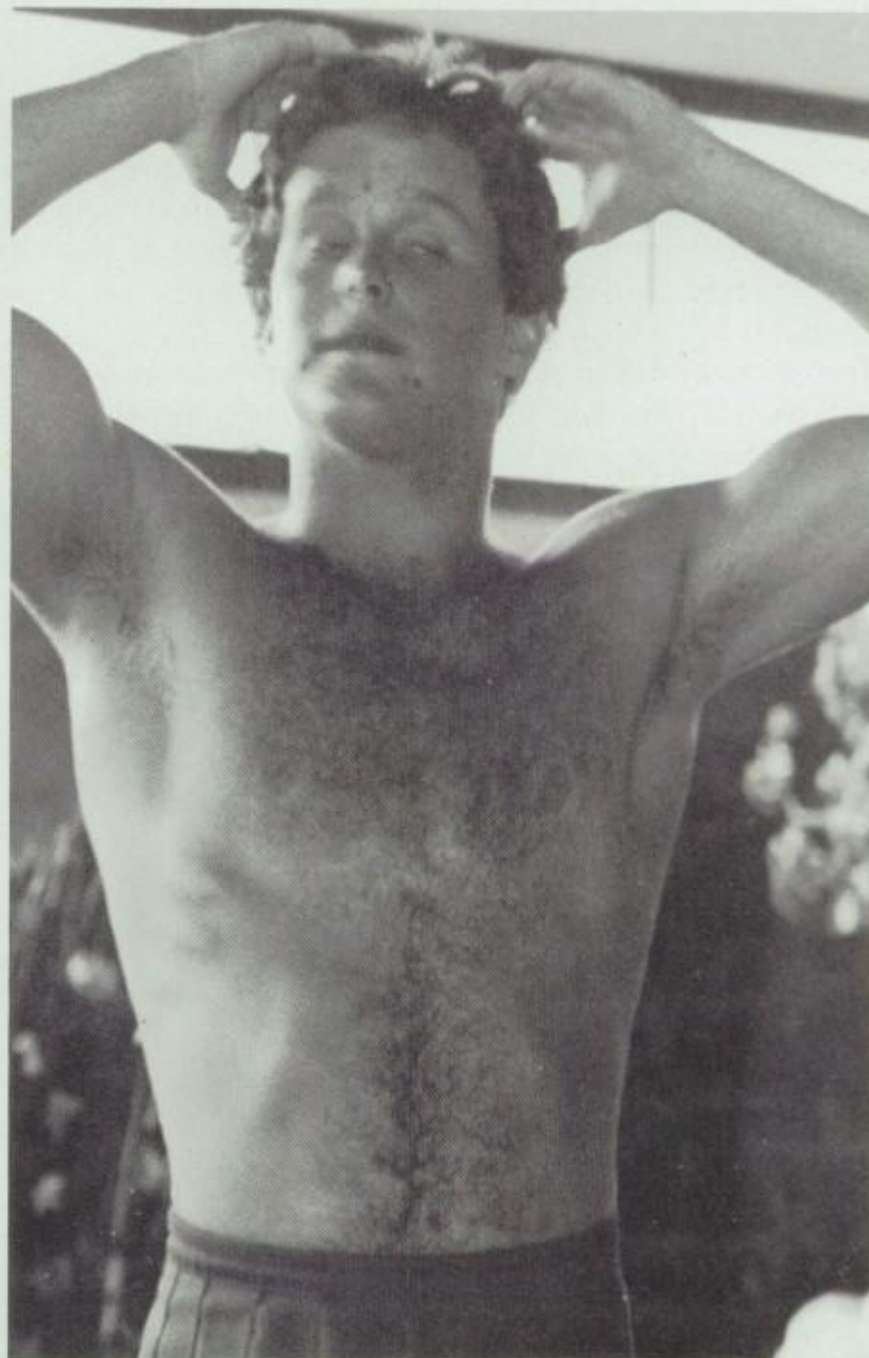

Finally, after the Alka Seltzer, the entertainment began. Volunteers went up to the stage and were hypnotized by Lew March, who had been the center of attraction at the Senior Munch for the last three years. Students were hypnotized by March who told them they had birds on their fingers, and that they were freezing and hot. He even stood on Julie Nicoll, who was told she was stiff as a board, and convinced Dave Baum that he was the only Martian on earth.

Another activity many students participated in was the Student Senate, presided over by Brian Bailard.

Foothill was divided into 13 districts, each having two senators. In addition, Bailard appointed two students from the classes of 1982, 1983, 1984 and 1985 to serve on the senate.

The senate's responsibilities included the organization of the 1981 Homecoming Dance and communicating students' ideas to the ASB.

students find time for . . .

Of all the active clubs on campus, "the Cultural Enrichment Club was one of the more spirited and enthusiastic," stated Club President Lisa Schmid. Although the 1981-1982 school year was the first year of the club, "the number of members was outstanding" explained Schmid.

The primary basis of the club was to promote cultural enrichment. "The club succeeded in doing just that" said Schmid. The members had the chance to attend such places as the Huntington Library, the Renaissance Faire, J. Paul Getty Museum, and the ballet, The Nutcracker Suite.

today computers, tomorrow?

One of the newest and most innovative clubs on campus was the Computer Club. According to the club president Robert Epps, "Since computers will be a major part of the future, this club is designed to prepare the student for future living." Epps continued, "The purpose of the club is to teach the student how to use the basic computer." Epps agreed the club was more than just an interesting club, it was a learning experience for all involved.

Advisor Marilyn Reardon felt the computer club was "exciting." Although the club spent much of its time at school, the members planned to take some field trips to various corporations.

... and the beat goes on

The hard work that the marching band put in paid off, the summer sessions, two periods a day, and two hours after school on Tuesdays and Thursdays showed in the halftime shows and shined through in parade scores.

The band participated in terrific halftime shows and did well in competitions. Led by Brian Wilson, the drum major, and Donna Tallent, the majorette, the band placed second, (above Tustin High School) at the Tustin Tiller Day Parade. At the Buena Park and Lester Oaks Parades, as well as The California Band Review, they placed fourth. At the All Western Band Review they received an awesome score of 92.66 out of 100.

Mr. Waibel stated, "School spirit has been great towards the band this year and they all deserve recognition for what they've accomplished."

drill team marches with spirit and pride

"Drill team was really special, a lot of fun, and it was one big, happy family!" according to Sara Duran, a devoted drill team member. Devoted is the key word to drill team. Practice was everyday during second period and on Tuesdays and Thursdays for two hours after school. There were shows during half-time at football games and parades every Saturday. It was a lot of work, but it was especially fun when they had pot lucks, dinners, and parties during the holidays.

In competition drill team was tops, placing first in the Tustin Tiller Days parade, first again at Buena Park and winning the Sweepstakes at Lester Oaks.

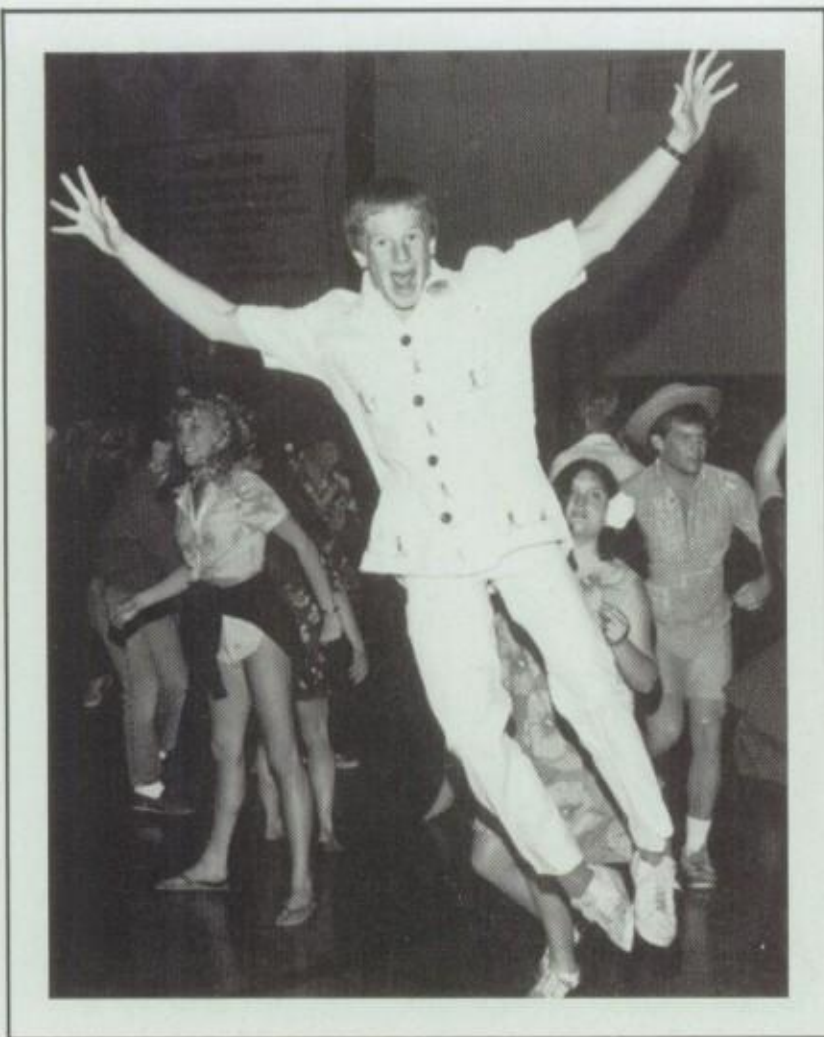

Although the team had only eight returning members, they did quite well. A big reason for this was the work of captain Carrie Uttz and co-captain Theresa Vickers; all of this amounted to an excellent year, making them all everyday heroes.

Once again, the annual Papa Doo Run Run dance was a great success. Students came dressed in beach attire and had a chance to trip the light fantastic to songs such as "California Girls" and "Surfin Safari." These immortal songs were performed by the popular group Papa Doo Run Run, on the evening of March 6. Papa Doo Run Run were often seen at Disneyland and also toured all over the country. They played their rendition of the 1960's surfing music made popular by Jan and Dean and The Beach Boys. Over 500 people attended this dance, and it will be remembered by them to be one of the most successful and most enjoyable dances of the year.

Sick and tired of school? Maybe . . . but when it came to performances by the 1981 pep squad, Foothill students were never bored by the "same old routine."

Led by pep advisor, John Severson, Pep Commissioner, Kim Brown, and aided with the help of Pep Club President Lynda Rand, the varsity and junior varsity squads strove to unite and ignite spirit among the student body no matter the season or sport. From cross country to water polo, they were there to support the players and cheer the teams on to victory.

From the first assembly to the last, the members of the pep squad put forth their best efforts, and it was evident in everything they did! The 1981 pep squad were heroes as they prompted more class spirit and school pride than in the past.

asb meets its goals with success

According to Associated Student Body President Jeff Goh, "Our main goals this year have been to try and increase participation in traditional activities and have a great communication going with everybody."

The faculty and students have been working well together and all of the activities were successful. "What more could one ask for?" asks Goh. One of the ASB Cabinet's goals was to have a dance each month. The idea became a reality. The cabinet worked diligently to bring back the traditional servant day and also a five-day Homecoming Week. The 1981-1982 ASB Cabinet convened each day during second period in the Student Activities Center. During the meeting, student activities, as well as the budget, were studied and criticized and necessary improvements were made. In addition, the cabinet frequently promoted community projects such as the March of Dimes collection, and food drives for needy families during the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. The ASB Cabinet provided a great deal of assistance for both the school and the community and furnished outstanding examples for students to follow.

escape to a "midnight rendezvous"

Formals. Tuxedos. Limousines and . . . Santa Claus? The Christmas Formal provided it all, and before a crowd which exceeded 500, Mike Monarch and Susan Murphy were crowned king and queen of the dance.

The Christmas court was nominated by the Girls' Athletic Association and the school counselors, for their service to the school. Girls' Athletic Director Frank Southern and Student Activities Director Al Marzilli then chose the court from those nominated. Students voted for king and queen.

On Friday, Dec. 11, the court arrived at the dance with their dates. At 11 p.m. the girls received a rose and were escorted to the front of the stage. As the king and queen were announced, there were screams of surprise and congratulations.

"It was really neat to be voted for service instead of just popularity!" Monarch exclaimed.

a white night? no, a midnight rendezvous!!

Bing Crosby sang of white Christmas, but in Anaheim, California that was just a dream. But the next best thing was a "Midnight Rendezvous," the theme of the 1981 Christmas Formal.

Held at the Anaheim Convention Center, the dance was from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. "Evergreen" provided the music for the dancers who were dressed in formal gowns and tuxedos. Occasionally, however, one could see tennis shoes and shorts.

Organized by the Girls' Athletic Association, the formal was a success. The only problem was that the dance was the night before the football CIF final game.

Although Foothill's "Midnight Rendezvous" has long since ended, it will remain a memory for all who attended.

heroes compete and win

season goes well for 1981-1982 athletics

Century League Champions!!
CIF, Quarters, Semis, Finals . . .
Foothill's athletes saw it all, and win or lose, they were always heroes because they dared to compete.

1981-82 was a school year for firsts. Coach Ted Mullen led the football Knights to the Anaheim Stadium where they became CIF champions for the first time in Foothill history. Prior to that, the Knights had an undefeated record in league, winning the Century League.

Another first was brought about under the coaching of David Sim-cox. The aqua-Knights reached the CIF finals. After triumphing over the
their winning streak, beating every CIF challenger until they reached the finals. There, the Knights had to settle for second place after losing a tough battle to the Spartans.

Girls' and boys' cross country teams also topped the rating charts. The girls ran away with a second in CIF thanks to Coach Dan Thomas and top-runner Patience Unger. The boys went to CIF after finishing third in league. Coach Jerry Whitaker and Jeff Williams, the boys' top runner, then visited Taiwan in December for more competition.

The Girls' Tennis Team slammed themselves into an overwhelming Century League win. They went to CIF, led by singles player Marianne Martin, and doubles team Kelly Escalera and Tracey Gault.

Sports at Foothill have always been popular, but courage and the urge to compete made the athletes of '81-82 heroes.

a super year

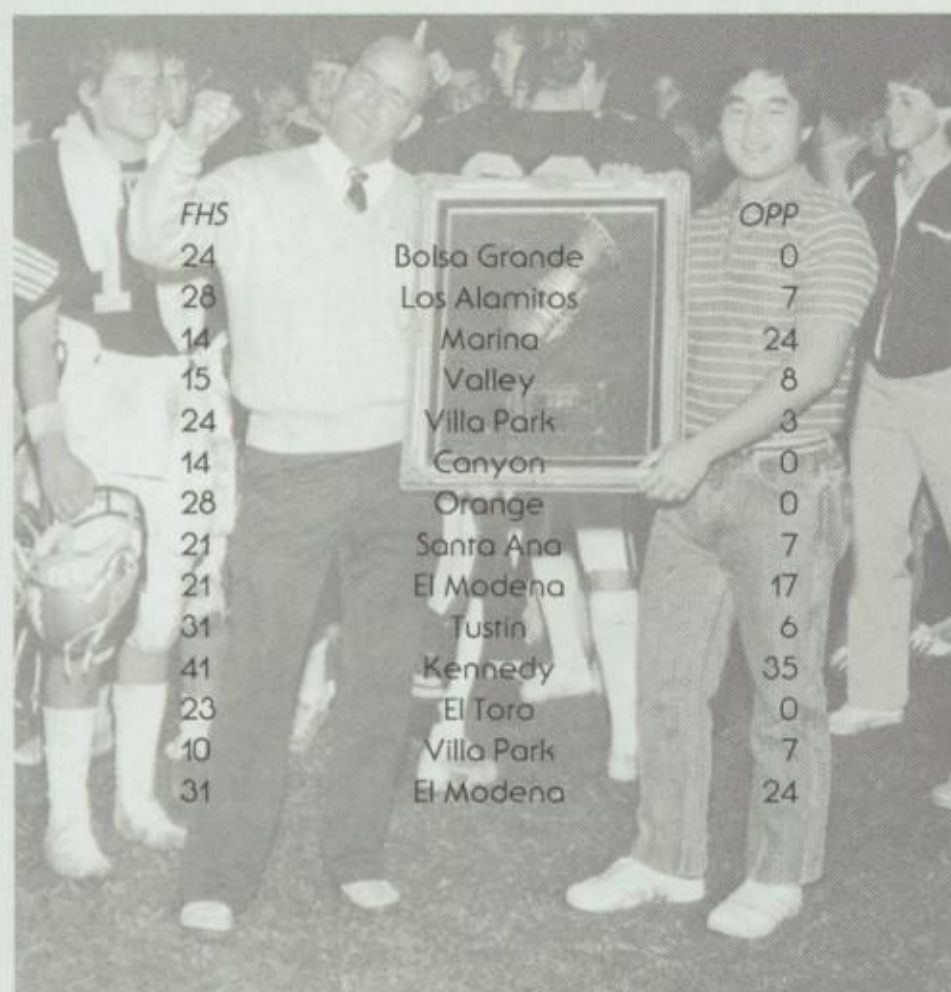

Following the pattern of previous Foothill freshman football teams, the 1981 team brought home a second place title with a record of 7-2. The offense was sparked by the outstanding play of quarterback Judd Dutrisac along with running back Ken Briggs. Steve Morbee was a consistent threat, gaining over 100 yards per game.

The defense was built around the solid performance of players like Mike Quinn, Ralph Laird and David Holland.

Only Santa Ana High School's team was able to defeat the Knights' freshman team, while all other opponents lost by a wide margin in the scoring. The freshman team rounded out another superior year of football at Foothill.

"It was absolutely the most exciting game I have ever seen," said one Foothill fan. "I don't think I could have stood the suspense one minute longer."

As the game entered the third California tie-breaker, the crowd thought it would go on all night and into Sunday morning. But this was not the case as El Modena's pass into the end zone was intercepted by Foothill's James Laird, making the final score 31-24 and securing Foothill's first CIF Championship title.

At the end of the first quarter, Foothill fans looked depressed, and they had good reason to. The Knights had fumbled the ball on a kick-off return and allowed El Modena to intercept a Foothill pass. Both mistakes resulted in El Modena touchdowns. But Foothill ran 87 yards across the field for a touchdown making the score 14-7 at the end of the first half. In the fourth quarter, with less than ten minutes to play, Mark Templeton made a 43 yard dash to the goal line, to tie the score 14-14.

In the first overtime, both teams had to settle for field goals. With the score still tied 17-17, the teams entered a second overtime. This time El Modena scored a touchdown on a four yard reverse. Foothill countered with a two yard dive by Templeton. In the third and final overtime, Foothill scored again, and held El Modena to win the C.I.F. Southern Section crown.

sophomores follow suit

Placing third in league, the Sophomore Football Team finished with a record of 6-3 and showed solid depth in keeping with Foothill tradition.

The offensive line gained an average of 21 points per game. With quarterback Chris Dabrow throwing and Jason Schmid receiving, Dabrow completed 65% of his pass attempts.

When moving on the ground, Mark Fredrick, Lance Frazee and Tom Monarch opened up holes for backs Richard Ash and Chris Hertsgaard.

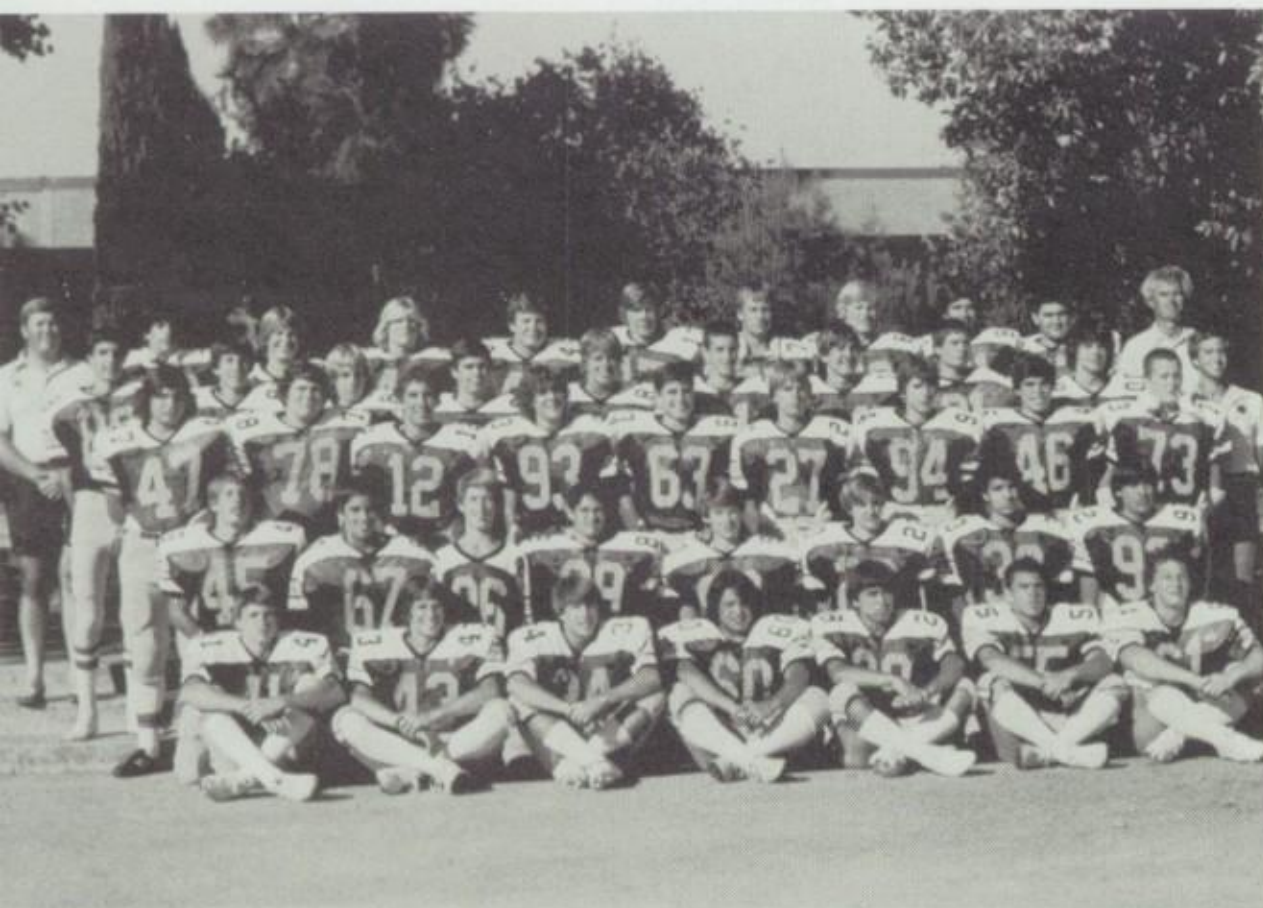

Mark Marchetti, Darrin DiMarco and Griff Howell anchored a defense which shut out five opponents and allowed an average of only eight points a game.

The determination, perseverance and quality of the 1981 Sophomore Knights made for an exciting and successful year.

Coach Adri Asnard stated "There were only one or two games when we were all there." Although Foothill had a disappointing season, they succeeded in one of their major goals, "smashing Tustin." Lori Hanson and Anne Dean were voted Most Valuable Players.

The JV was only slightly better than the varsity. Coached by Sheila Adams, the JV also lacked experience, but not dedication, practicing two to two and one half hours everyday.

It proved to be a good year for the Boys Varsity Cross Country Team. They finished third in the Century League Division (which was the most difficult league in CIF).

The team as a whole had a season during which they moved up and down the CIF rankings. The highest they saw themselves on the polls was third.

Even though the team jumped up and down, the person who came through in the clutch was Jeff Williams. "Williams was the backbone of the team," Coach Jerry Whitaker said. Winning every race in league, Williams was Orange County Runner of the Year. At every invitational, he was awarded Athlete of the Meet.

Whitaker said, "Williams is a naturally talented runner and should keep going strong in college."

"The boys JV and Frosh/Soph Cross Country Teams both finished surprisingly well, considering injuries," Coach Jerry Whitaker stated.

It proved to be a successful year for the 1981 Girls Cross Country Team.

The team participated in Foothill's fifth straight CIF finals. The girls (coming in second) lost to the best team in the nation, according to polls, University High.

The team breezed by Santa Ana, Villa Park and El Modena High Schools. Varsity girls also won three invitational (thirteen races in all).

Dan Thomas, girls cross country coach, said, "All the hard work and dedication paid off at the end of the season." He was especially pleased with Patience Unger, Sue Meyers, Amy Cox and Jill Thoner, for their enthusiasm and spirit.

As with the boys J.V., the J.V. girls were plagued by injuries. If it were not for the loss of 8 to 10 runners, the team could have been a lot better, said Thomas.

The girls' J.V. also continued the five year tradition of representing Foothill at the CIF meet.

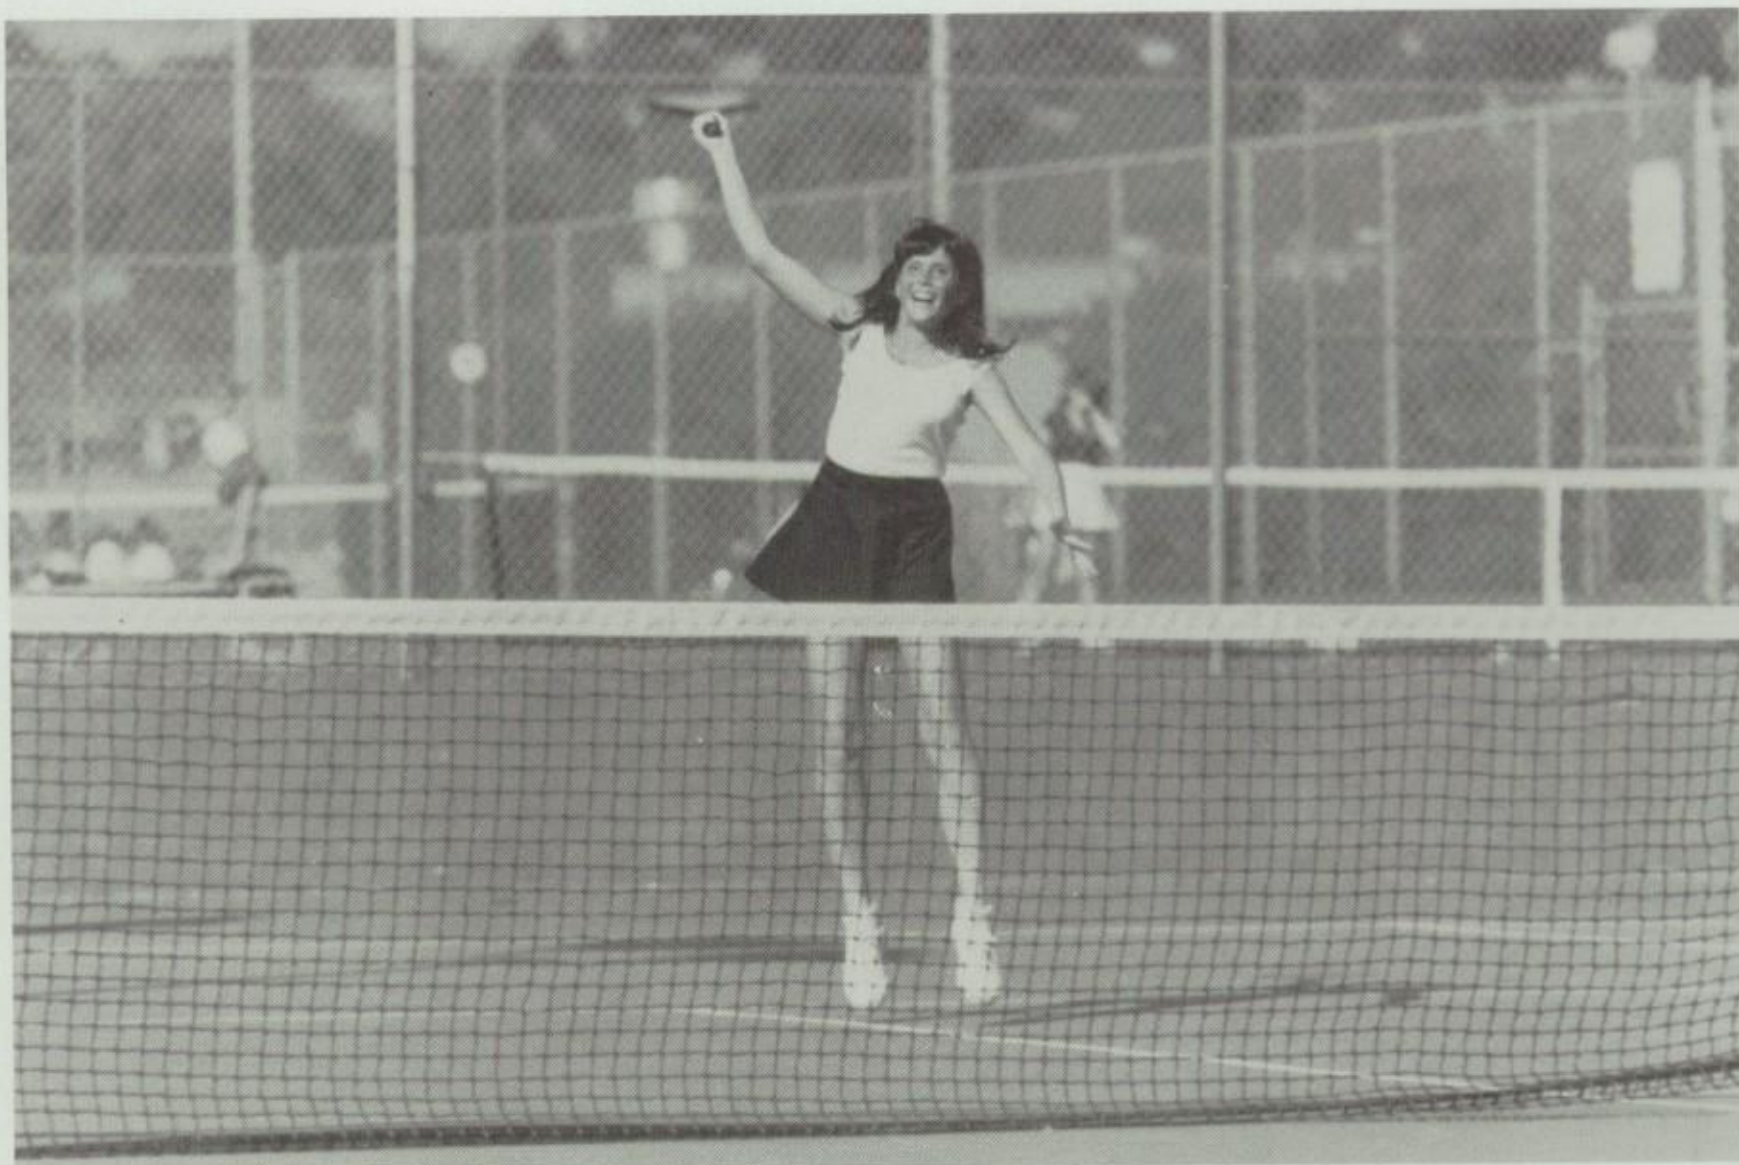

The runners exemplified the heroism at Foothill as they fulfilled their goals of winning for the school and themselves.

Marianne Martin was named Most Valuable Player in the Century League for the third straight year. Shellie Frey, Martin, and Dawn Rowe in singles and Tracey Gault, Kelley Escalera, Debbie Turbow, Judi Graves, Rebecca Cobb, and Marci Margolin in doubles, were named All League Players for 1981.

Foothill's Frosh/Soph Water Polo Team was phenomenal! The mini-Knights posted a 20-0 record for the season, the best frosh/soph record in Foothill history. They won the Century League Championship, and they won both the South Coast Tournament and the Villa Park Tournament.

The team worked out with the varsity team and helped improve the entire Foothill water polo program. Outstanding players were: Bill Strait (most valuable), Courtney Sheets (most improved), John Reynolds, Jon Pliner, Mike Coffey, Robert Yount, Robert Williams, Chris Terry, and Gary Strachan.

Many frosh/soph players will move up to the varsity team next year to help keep up Foothill's winning tradition.

making the connection

To look at Foothill's Varsity Basketball Team's win/loss record, one would think the Knights had an average team. However, when looking at the games and the players who achieved the wins, one would agree to the general consensus: there was college potential in Foothill's lineup.

Brian Bailard was a prominent figure on the team. Establishing a new Orange Optimist Basketball Tournament Record, Bailard also broke Bill Boyd's 1969 record when he scored 50 points against Hawthorne High School's team. Bailard was one of the top five scorers in Orange County, as well as the Knights' "Most Improved Player."

Although Bailard's record was outstanding, two months later Rich Thomas broke it. On Feb. 10, Thomas scored 51 points on Villa Park's team. One of the top five scorers in the county, Thomas averaged 25.3 points a game. Also a top rebounder, Head Coach Jim Reames said, "Rich Thomas is the best player I've coached at Foothill."

Reames felt that the team had many winning qualities, among them was their spirit. "This year's team had a lot of individual spirit. Each player strove for individual perfection as well as a winning team."

shooting for league

The Knights ruled the basketball court in '82. The expertise of the JV, sophomore, and freshman teams ruled the score board and the league titles.

James Laird, who started the season on varsity, decided to play on the junior varsity and became the team's leading scorer. Another winning element of the JV team were two aggressive freshmen, Greg Gore and Ralph Laird. Altogether the team was "deep in talent and I'm looking forward to a great season this time," said Coach Reames.

The freshman and sophomore teams were also successful in bringing home league titles.

"Both teams started slow and improved as the season went on," stated Coach Powell.

The Varsity Field Hockey team consisted of outstanding players such as Peggy and Mary Quinn, Pam Pollack and Erin Grimes who did an especially good job as goalie. Their toughest game was against Santa Ana Valley, whom they played twice, the first time losing in the last ten seconds, 0-1. The second time the team met Santa Ana, Foothill won scoring 2 goals to Santa Ana's 1.

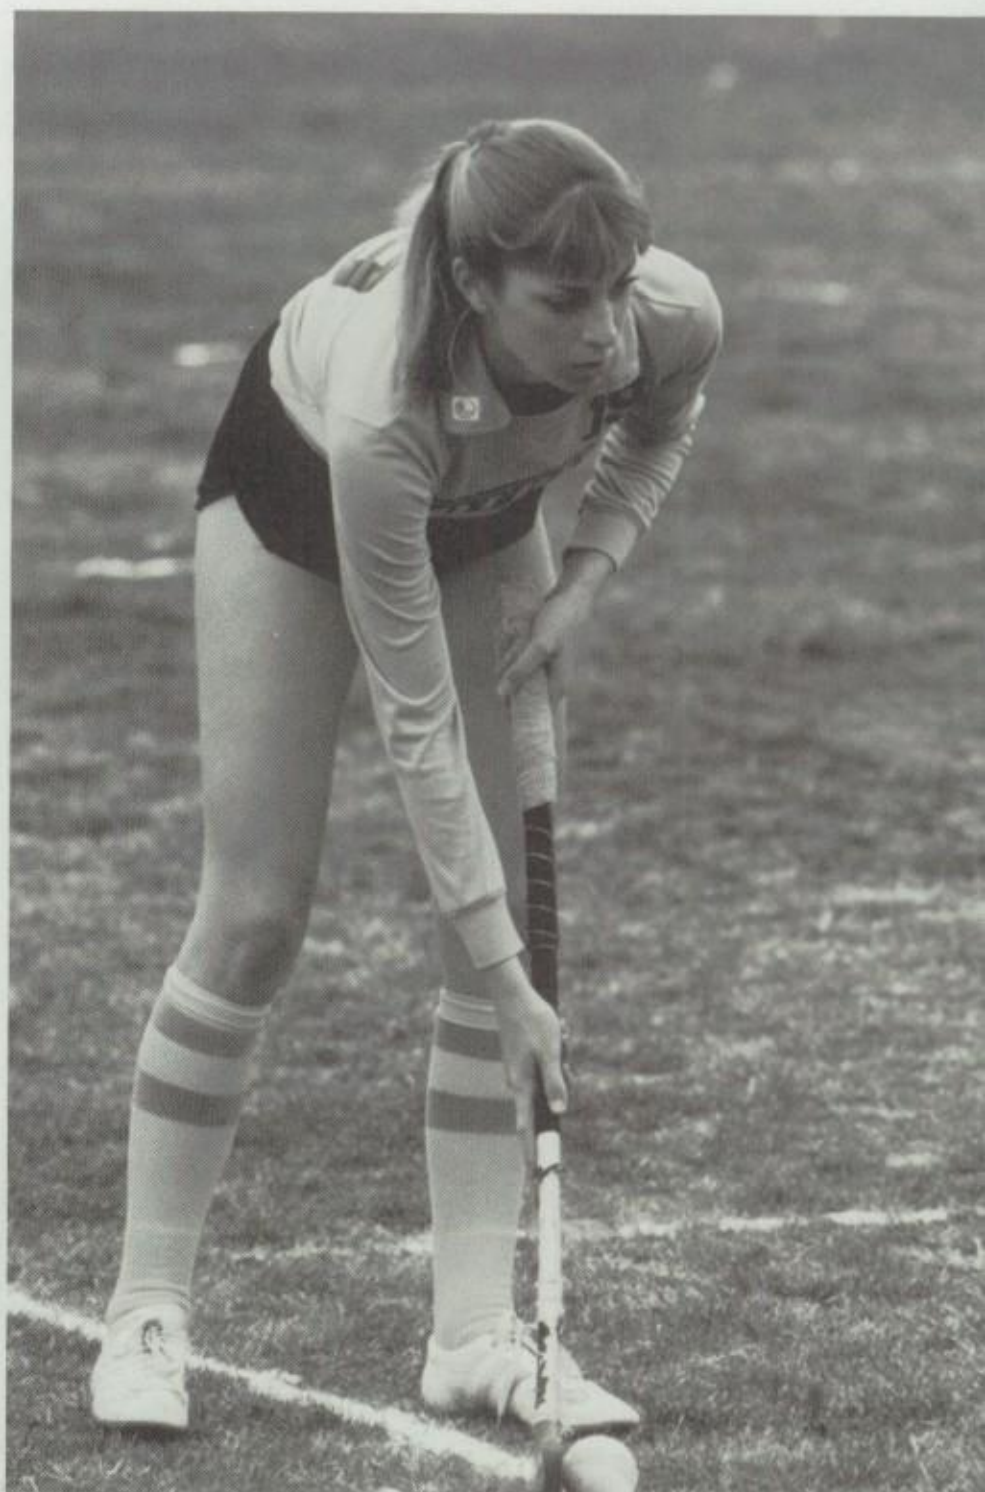

Elizabeth Cilliani and Terese Carrarico were two of the more outstanding players on the J.V. Field Hockey team. The J.V. team also had a tough time with Santa Ana Valley, but held on to tie the game.

Both teams showed exceptional improvement during the 1982 season, even though field hockey will be replaced next year with girls soccer.

Century League Champs!! The Varsity Girls' Basketball Team finished the year with many wins and few losses. The team had a powerful season and came out on top. One loss was to Foothill's cross-town rival, Tustin. The varsity then came back the second time to beat the Tillers with ease.

Veteran player, Anne Dean, led Foothill in both offense and defense. Other valuable players were Michelle Bilodeau, Jill Desantis, Jill Osur, and Jenny Osur.

Following in the varsity team's footsteps, the junior varsity team also had a successful season. Some of the JV stars were Julie Cross, Katrina Combs, Emma Strong, Lisa DeGabrielle, Michelle Pinney, and Retta Wright.

Again Foothill's "everyday heroes" led both of the girls' basketball teams to smashing victories.

SOCCER SCORES

1982 was an exciting year for the Varsity Soccer Team. Because the team worked together, they were enthusiastic and hard working, facing a goal of helping each other out. Coach George Korich felt this made a difference in the varsity team. The best players were: Seth Brewster, Mike Mugrage, Tom Neiger, and Dave Stevens. Other players who succeeded over the season were Kevin Takabashi and Ned Kroko. Coach Korich had many goals for the team, the most important was to make CIF.

—soccer sets high goals—

"Generally, I think we had a very good team. We had a good backup and an excellent starting team," stated JV Coach Ian Singleton.

Foothill's JV Soccer Team ended the season with an exceptionally good record, produced by players such as Dave DeRose, Dave Friend, Ken Inkly and Tony Walsh. The Knights only had difficulties with a few teams; Santa Ana, to whom they lost and Tustin, whom they beat twice.

The Frosh/Soph Soccer Team was divided into two separate teams. Team 1, which competed in league and team 2. Team 1 had two players who did especially well, Steve Brown on offense and Chris Sheperd on defense. Both teams ended the season with very good records.

Fore! Some people might think walking around open fields with a bag of sticks and hitting mushroom-size balls is not something normally done. However, the game is golf, and Foothill's golf team loved it. Power putters like Perry Parker and Scott Turney, and long-ball hitters such as Dave Cross made the team work, Coach Travis McWilliams believed. "Golf is a game of skill, and also exercise," he explained.

What can you say about a team that worked hard and played hard but not hard enough? The wrestling team of 1982 had one of their slowest seasons, finishing fourth in league. However, the wrestling team did their best.

It was not the team's fault, nor Coach Joe George's; the other schools simply had better, stronger wrestlers. No matter the outcome of their seasons, the spirit of the golf and wrestling teams made them everyday heroes.

Coach Duffy Clark had an unusually young badminton team in 1982.

The badminton team had an uncommon number of boys on the team. Clark said, "This is good for the boys' team, but bad for the girls', since the scores of the two teams are combined."

The badminton team, throughout the season, worked hard trying to win the league championship. In past years, Tustin High School has proven to be Foothill's toughest competition, and 1982 was no exception.

Although the JV team was also inexperienced, Coach Sandy Callahan believes, "They have the potential for being a good team."

Tennis is a sport that requires individual talent as well as teamwork. Foothill was strong in both areas with Tim Pawsat as the leading singles player, and Keith Engel and Scott Jackson as the leading doubles team.

The Knights also had many other outstanding players. The returning players for the 1983 season will be Drew Denny, John Simanyi, Scott Jackson, and Keith Engel; the tennis team had depth. With this powerhouse of players, no wonder Foothill was the best.

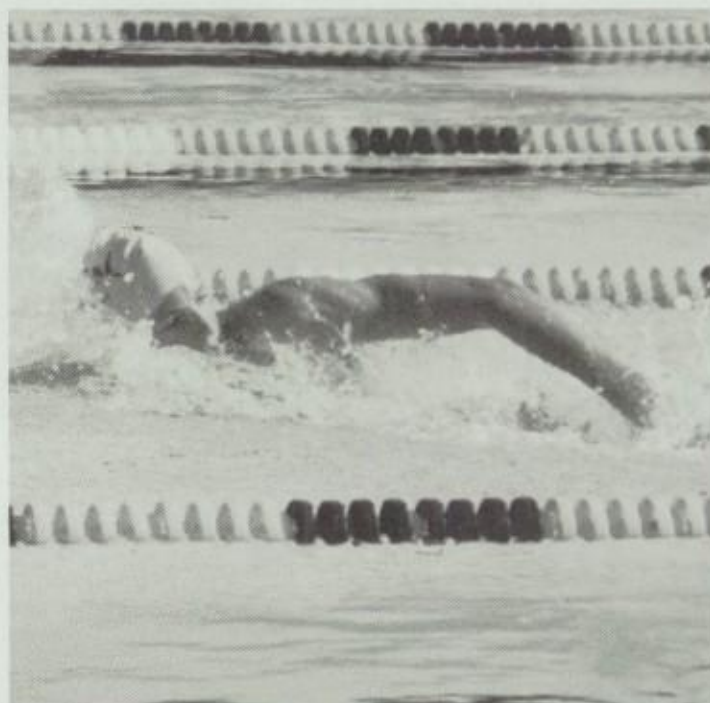

Look out John "Baby" McEnroe, because someday you are going to meet up with one of Foothill's heroes.

Foothill. In the swimming world, the name is feared and respected. Four CIF championships attest to the fact. The 1982 Boy's Swim Team upheld the Foothill tradition admirably. Coach Tom DeLong stated at the beginning of the season, "Our goal is to remain undefeated and to win the Century League Championship in both JV and Varsity." Led by Co-captains Scott Crawford and two time all-American Mike Reynolds, the team worked hard to achieve that goal. Workouts, (4.5 hours daily) consisted of an average of 12,000 yards. Dedication and determination were two traits the swim team possessed. Other outstanding swimmers were Robert MacLachlan, Courtney Sheets, Gary Strachan, Bill Strait and Mark Terry.

The JV Boy's Team, which had a different schedule, worked extremely hard as well. The team developed many talented swimmers, namely: Jim Delyea, Jon Pliner, Tom Sunshine, Chris Terry, and Bret Woods. Led by coach Dave Simcox, the team achieved many goals and developed into a successful team.

The Girls JV Team had an excellent year winning league as well. Coach Dave Simcox called the team "awesome". Talented swimmers were Heather Abraham, Nancey Benford, Heidi Grahm, Laurie Manzo, Linda Parish, and Kelly Taylor.

Although softball is not as publicized as football or basketball, it is still an important sport. It develops hand and eye coordination and team unity and pride.

The teams are filled with a lot of great girls full of determination and of course lots of ability to win. The ability comes from girls like Anne Dean, Lisa Lloyd, Michele Lantz, and Susan Murphy. They practice many hours after school.

"We are a young team with a lot of talent," said Varsity Coach Sid Girthens. "Pre-season did not go well because we made a lot of mistakes." Girthens stated that CIF is one of the team's goals, but added, "It depends on how well we are put together. We should do pretty well."

The JV Baseball Team showed consistent effort under the leadership of Coach Paul Escalera. The team was sparked by the performances of Jim Rice, Marc Marchetti, and Chris Dabrow. The effort of the entire team insures a good future for the next year's team.

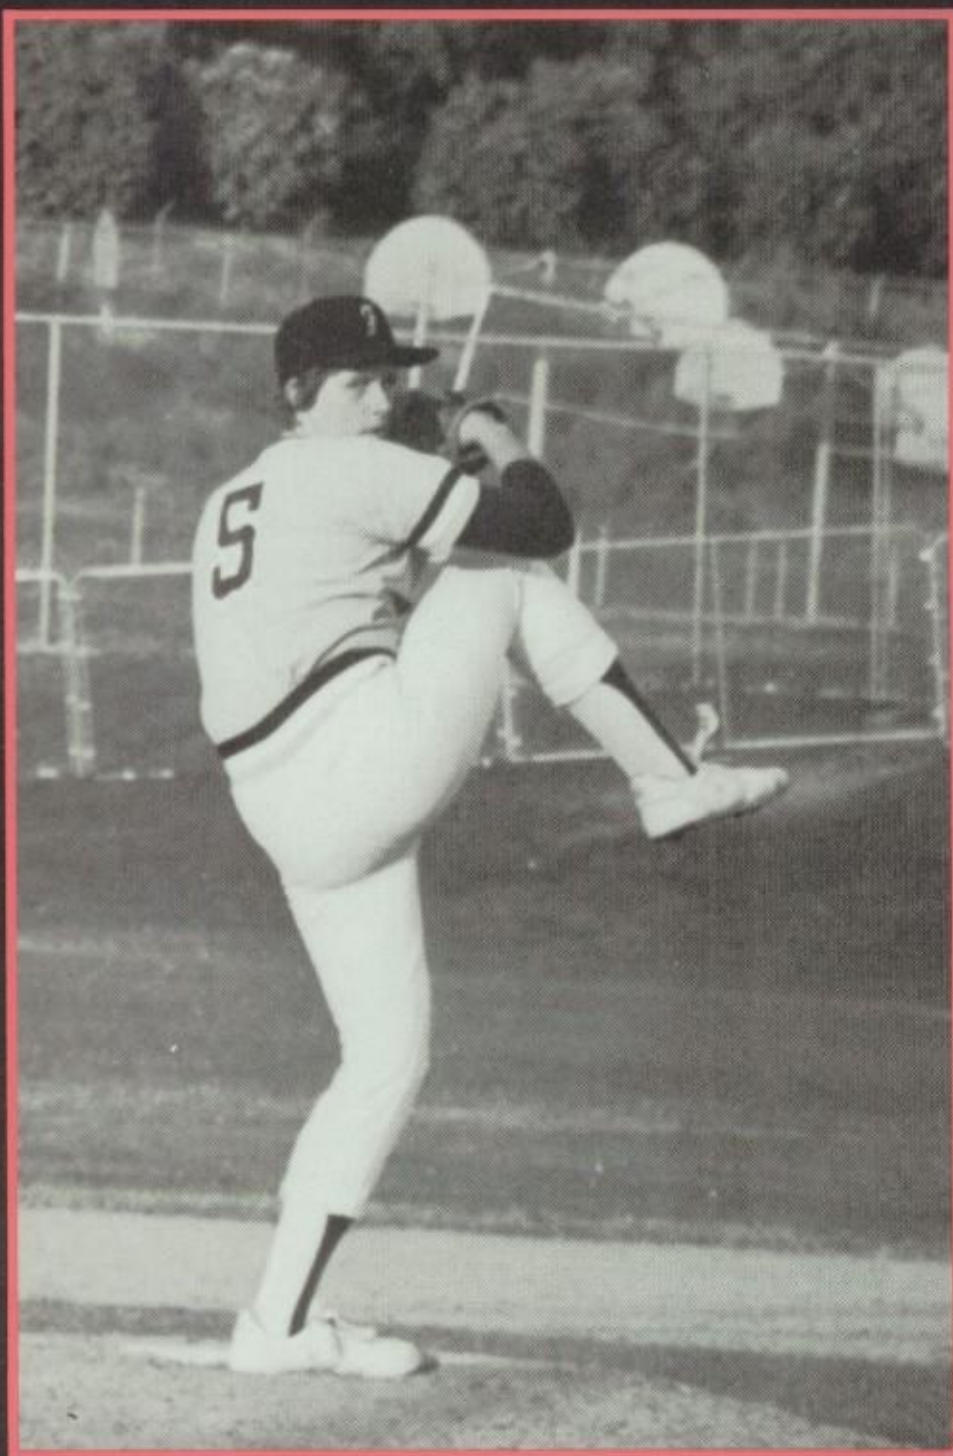

The developing talent emerging on the Frosh/Soph Baseball Team created an exciting season. Outstanding players included Jud Dutrisac, Ken Briggs, and Stacy Parker. The Frosh/Soph Team led to great expectations for future Foothill baseball teams.

With a strong opening, the Knight's Varsity Baseball Team continued to strive for victory throughout the season. Coach Gerry Sedoo mentioned some of the superb players that made up the team, such as shortstop Doug Bader, first baseman Brian Bailard, catcher Dave Baum, outfielder Greg Haley and pitchers John McCarty and Phil Woolsey.

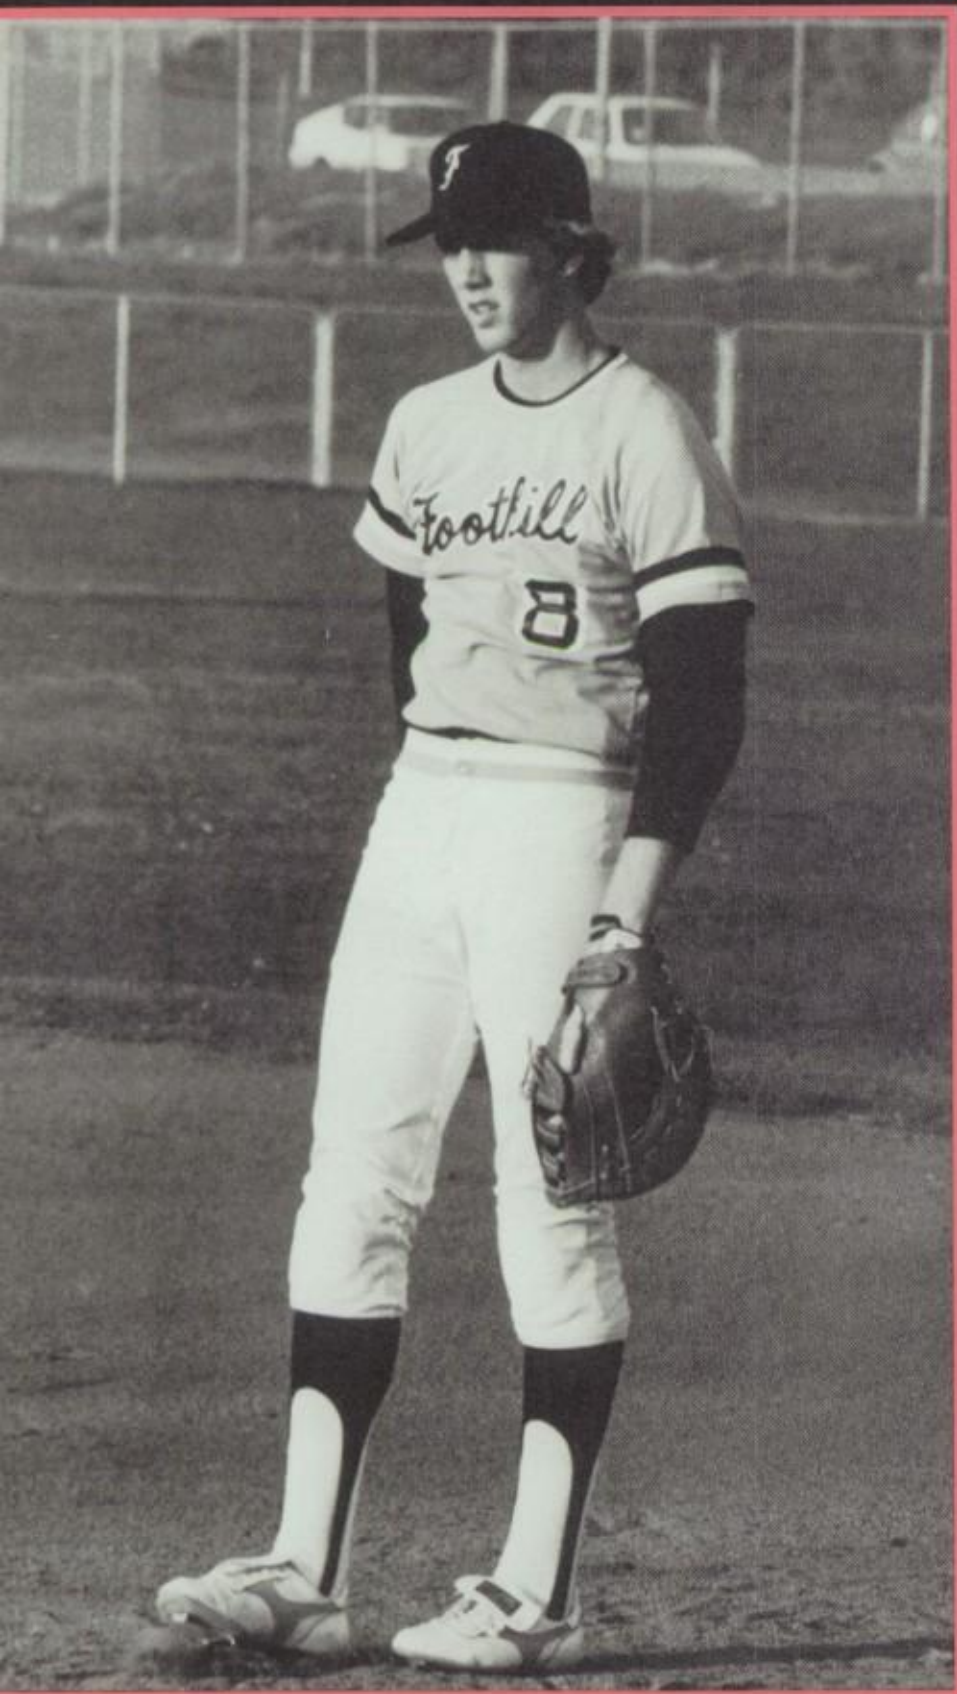

The successful season was an expression of the effort of each individual player as he proved himself worthy of the title 'hero.'

The boys' track teams were in what they called reconstruction, where they developed and strengthened areas of running. The boys' teams' strategy was to fluctuate the runners to see what area they were best in.

Although Coach Terry Munhall did not think that the track team as a whole would make it to CIF, he believed that a few individuals would.

Despite the fact the team lacked depth, Munhall said that everyone was a winner — everyday heroes.

Exceptional athletes were Tiffany Vostmyer and Lisa Boranian (sprinters), Mary Jo Casey, Beth Gardner, and Maria Ornes (field), and Susan Meyers, Kristin Friend, and Jill Thoner (distance).

Coach Thomas claimed that there was a strong bond of teamwork, and a lot of work was done to perfect it. This teamwork determined the outcome against major rivals, Santa Ana Valley and Tustin.

Beach bumming was the last thing on the minds of Eric Noble, and Rich Zeigler in the summer of 1981 when they decided to cycle from British Columbia to Mexico. After many gruelling hours of strenuous cycling, they reached their goal and ended the long journey of over 3000 miles.

While they were busy pumping, Jeff Fowler was riding his jet ski on Lake Almanor in Northern California.

In 1982, ski fever hit the classrooms of FHS. Beginners, as well as the "Hordoggers", took to the slopes to show their style, and sometimes to literally "break a leg."

Horseback riding claims a large percentage of students as well, whether it be on a weekend for casual sport or training long hours for competition.

Last on our list, but by no means least, is racquetball, the rising sport and pastime at not only Foothill, but around the country.

students study hard

the life of foothill high school

Foothill High School is more than just an average school. Its students go to school every weekday just like any other school, but what they do at school is what is so different. Foothill's everyday heroes take time out of their days to participate in sports, clubs, and dances. During school, in between classes of English, history, fine arts, science, mathematics, foreign languages, and many more, there are assemblies to attend, time to chat with friends, a library and career information center to explore, and celebrations like the Foothill Annual Knights Homecoming Feast and Joust to enjoy.

To make the academic day more bearable, Foothill has an excellent teaching staff. Being intelligent and capable of handling rowdy Knights, they can be humorous and sometimes downright heroic.

The life of Foothill makes the school unique. Its students are so highly spirited and energetic that it makes school fun.

Journalism is a unique class that publishes Foothill's newspaper every three weeks. Few students realize the effort and hard work it takes to put out a newspaper like the Knight Life. Under the leadership of editor Mike Simanyi, and advisor Mary Helen Holditch, the journalism staff learns what it is like to work on and publish a paper.

The Knight Life contains articles about school activities, sports, and problems, as well as current events, editorials, letters, and opinions. The paper informs students of what is happening at Foothill and also provides staff members the opportunity to editorialize on these events.

tinkers and draftsmen

Car engine overhauls, tuneups, flat tires and imploded carburetors were just a few problems faced by Foothill's Technical Education students. Many students took their cars into the shop and took them apart, cleaned them up and put them back together again. Students' cars were not the only things taken apart. Junk cars, motorcycles and even Karen Jahnig's (a teacher at Foothill) car were worked on.

Tech Ed can prove to be an important class. "Hopefully my Tech Ed students will find it valuable in the future," said Nolan.

heroes at home and abroad

"Two years of Spanish was not enough," said Jim Marcotte of his experience with the Americans Abroad program. Marcotte visited Spain during the summer of 1981; there was no school so this left time for parties, the beach, and sightseeing in Bilbao.

Vindhya Ortega, from San Francisco de Macoris, Dominican Republic, was happy to be visiting the U.S. "Dating is completely different here," she said. "There are no chaperones. If you go out without one in my country, stories get around."

Joris VanHaver, of Eelst, Belgium, noted differences between his country and the U.S., he said, "If you fail one class even, it is possible that you will fail completely. Instead of electives, students opt for a program."

The Orange County Academic Decathlon is a contest in which schools compete in three divisions: Honors, Scholastic, and Varsity. The members take tests in English, math, and science. They also give planned and impromptu speeches. Through their hard work and dedication, the 1981 OCAD team placed second, showing a bit of everyday heroism.

Sitting in an overstuffed chair, the Biology Guru (Robert Nichols) taught his class from the middle of Room 214.

Students in his Bio 10 class learn about chemical properties, atomic structures, and ecosystems. They also dissect frogs, worms, and grasshoppers. Surprisingly enough, they also specialize in the correct way of listening to classical music. "The purpose of the music," stated Nichols, "is to build up excitement and drama during dissections."

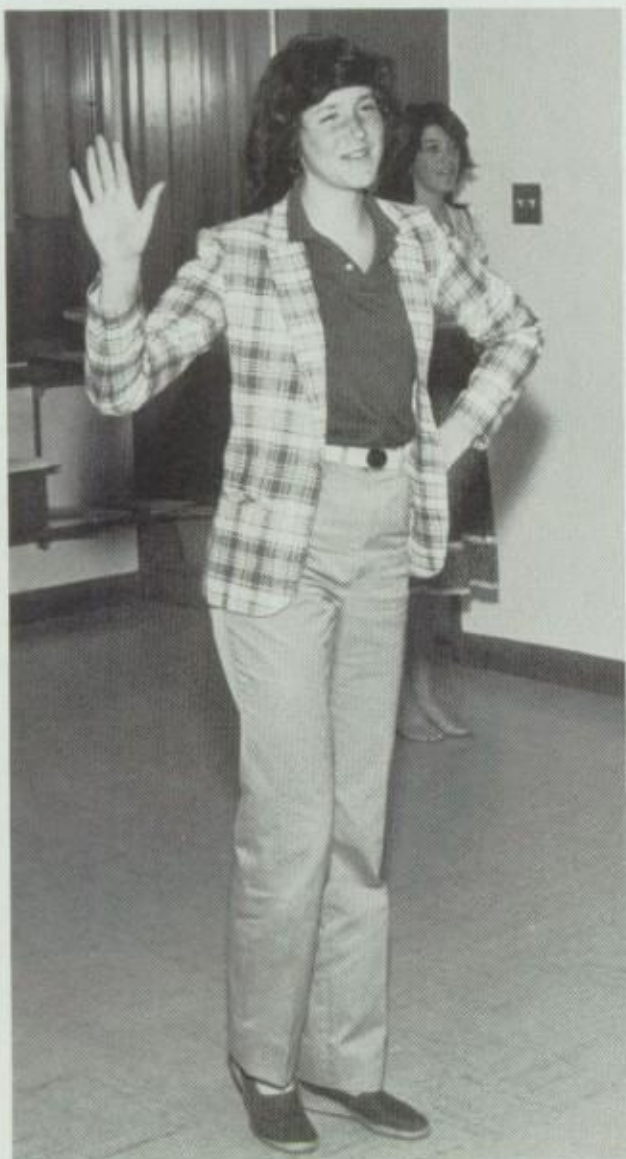

Though the class is not easy, and very demanding, students appreciate it, and feel that it will be useful in their future lives.

Other classes that will prove useful in the future are family living, sewing, and cooking. These classes are taught by Lu Perkov and Karen Jahnig.

The home economics classes, formerly considered "girls'" classes are coed, and many boys participate, proving their worth in the kitchen and at home. "The guys do well," stated Perkov. "Some of them can make such terrific omelettes, too!"

Taking a new angle in teaching drama, Eligia Nicolai believes, "It's a good idea to first let the student practice the basics before turning him loose on the stage." She incorporated this idea by devoting each semester to separate learning fundamentals.

Nicolai devoted the first semester to teaching stage presence, pantomime, and body movement. The second semester included improvisational theater, voice projection, and verbal expression. Nicolai referred to the class as a "drama program or repertory theater building program."

Other popular performing arts electives are madrigals and chorus. Directed by Edward Doyle, these classes were very busy. Major performances were the Winter Concert and the Kiwanis Club Concert. Doyle stated that the only fund raiser the chorus had was the Broadway Review which featured songs from contemporary plays.

"If you have a 3.5 grade point average with no D's or C's in all courses, the California Scholarship Federation is definitely your type of club," stated CSF president Mike Reynolds. Club activities usually took place outside of school. Included was the annual CSF seminar in which all of the local CSF chapters got together and attended academic seminars, with courses in science and math. These seminars were set up by college professors and were designed to give students a firm background in many academic areas.

Coping with the problems of running a high school is a tremendous challenge. During the 1981-82 school year, two new vice principals, Kevin Edwards and Rich Lincourt, joined the team of administrators in order to meet this challenge.

But what good is a high school without teachers? It was the teachers who were in direct contact with the students. And, it was the teachers who spent their time, effort, and patience in making the learning experience an enriching one.

It took more than ordinary people to make Foothill a great school. It took everyday heroes in the form of teachers, counselors, and administrators.

rich lincourt saddles up again

Foothill may not be the ranch, but Rich Lincourt, the new Assistant Principal of Administrative Services, still believes in wearing cowboy boots everyday.

Lincourt was born and raised in Southern California. He received his Master and Bachelor degrees at Whittier College. He then taught for five years, and was an elementary school principal for nine years.

When asked what he would change at Foothill, he replied that he would like to provide some students the opportunity to go to another school. When they came back, he believes that they would really appreciate what Foothill offers.

Lincourt has a wife and two children, and when he has some spare time he enjoys gymnastics and playing racquetball. By the way, if you have ever wondered how many pairs of cowboy boots he has, only two!

health and safety is the way

What a challenge! For 16 years, Virginia Osborne has been the nurse and Health and Safety Supervisor at Foothill. She received her degrees in nursing at Queen of Angels Hospital and UCLA and a credential in health was obtained at California State University at Long Beach.

Osborne enjoys working with students because she believes it keeps her young. Osborne felt, "It would be great to have an ongoing in-service health education for all Foothill personnel."

She has strong feelings that each faculty member should know how to operate at their full potential. This would also alert them to the present dangers and hazards on high school campuses. Her goal is to have a program for elementary students on alcohol and child abuse. Osborne sees elementary school as the best place to expose the students to health education.

When asked how she became a school nurse, Osborne replied, "I was a girl scout leader, and told another leader that I wanted to be a school nurse. Knowing that Foothill needed a nurse, I told Mrs. Holub, the nurse at Tustin High School, who arranged an interview with the superintendent and then got me the job."

cars — a part of life

Flat tire, out of gas, need oil? Sound familiar? Well, if one asked John Nolan, Foothill's auto class teacher, he would tell about the teachers' cars he has fixed. When questioned about what he thinks about doing the teachers' cars he replied, "It gives the students a great opportunity to work on different cars."

Nolan received his degree from California State University at Long Beach where he majored in industrial arts. Nolan has taught at Foothill for ten years. When asked what he was in need of in autoshop, he replied, "I would like more funds. This would enable me to update equipment and add much needed supplies." He has strong feelings in that, "Everyone should know more about his automobile to keep it in prime running condition. After all most people spend a lot of their lives in their cars." If he were not teaching, Nolan stated that he would still be working with automobiles in some capacity.

a cheer for foothill

"It's a great opportunity to watch the girls develop their social and leadership talents," said John Severson about teaching the class of cheerleaders. He also believes that the pep squad is the most visible and vulnerable organization, and that it works harder than any other group on campus. "They greatly benefit the school," stated Severson. The pep class consisted of 31 students.

Severson also believes that Foothill is in need of a single lunch, and history as an elective. He teaches U.S. History A.P., Leadership - pep and drivers education.

Severson received his Bachelor degree at California State University at Fullerton and then began teaching at Foothill. While teaching he received his Master's in history at Chapman College. He has taught at Foothill for 18 years.

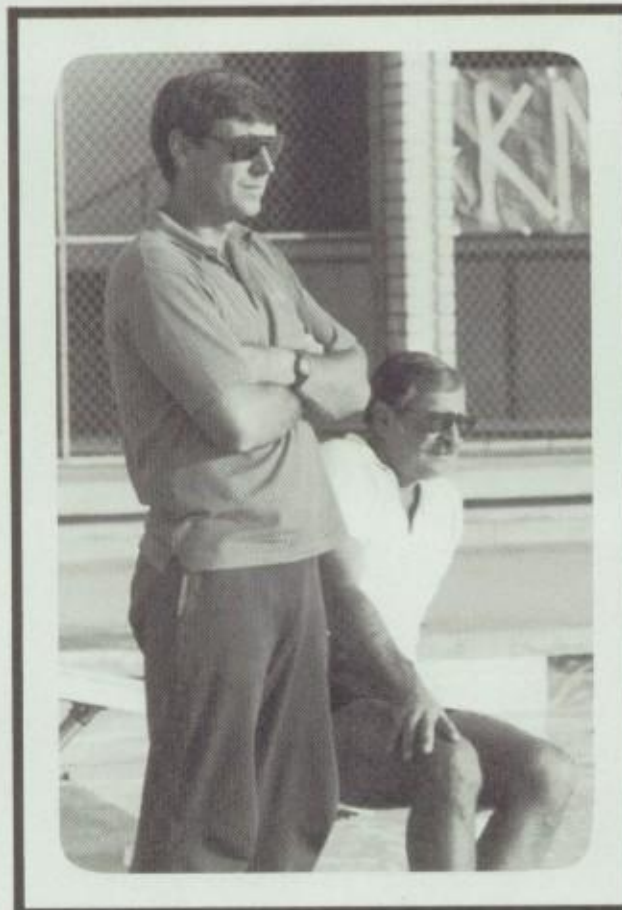

Severson is proud of the 75 to 80 percent passing rate on the Advanced Placement History Test. When asked why, he stated, "I think that the program is great because it allows students to earn college credit while in high school. It shows that Foothill students can take a college level course and perform well."

``graduation''

Finally . . . after four hard years of struggle, the Class of '82 was free (for a summer at least). Although the seniors were leaving, there would always be memories of the good times at Foothill.

One of the most memorable events which took place was the Senior Recognition Day, according to Senior Class President Tom Kozak. "We had at least 95% of the class participating, by dressing up to the theme, 'Senior Citizens!'" The day provided a jazz band and wheel chair races for the numerous senior citizens, doctors, nurses, and future senior citizens.

Feast and Joust was another important event and provided another day of mass participation. Bringing back tradition, seniors dressed in togas and travelled in chariots for Senior Servant Day.

On October 28, the Halloween Munch took place at Knott's Berry Farm. Kozak said that he planned for 350 but had 430 people attend. Seniors dressed in costumes and were entertained by a hypnotist.

Kozak was happy with the senior class because "everything that we have planned for, the class participated in more than we planned." The Class of '82 was definitely the model for "Everday Heroes."

Though Coach Ted Mullen claimed the football team had no star, it is well known that without Mark Templeton as a runningback, the Knights would not have won their first CIF championship.

"There's a lot of times the runningback gets a lot of publicity that should go to others," Templeton felt. Whether or not this is true, awards were showered on him.

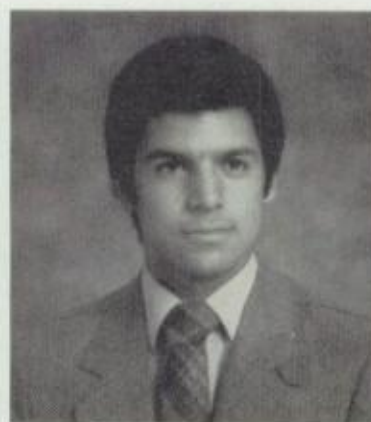

Templeton was named to the All-County first team and the All-CIF first team. He was also awarded the Century League's Co-Offensive Player of the Year. Topping his honors, however, Templeton was voted by the First Interstate Bank Athletic Foundation as CIF Division II Player of the Year.

Templeton attributes the success of the team to the coaches — Mullen and Bob Salerno and also to the unity of the team.

Templeton said of the final game against El Modena, "It typified our whole year. We always seemed to turn up on top when it didn't seem we should," he explained.

And what about the future? "I'd like to go to one of the Arizona schools," said Templeton, "and major in Business Administration."

Concerning a future in football, Templeton said, "College ball will be just fine — if I get in."

Many of the teachers at Foothill would probably say their students love to play with fire, but Donna Tallent literally played with fire. Tallent was Foothill's baton twirler.

For six years, Tallent has been twirling a baton; however, she has only been twirling fire since a week before the Tustin game. "Twirling fire is just like twirling a regular baton; I don't even know the fire is there," said Tallent.

When asked what she would remember the most about her senior year at Foothill, Tallent said it was performing at Anaheim Stadium during half time of the CIF Football Championship. Another memorable experience said Tallent was the California Band Review. "The band review was a parade in Santa Ana. It poured the day of the parade and the band had to trudge through about six inches of water. The day after we had a competition and our costumes were wet and the colors had run," remembered Tallent.

1982's center, Rich Thomas, has given his all for Foothill's basketball teams. He has been playing basketball since he was in third grade, and he has won such awards as Most Valuable Player, and Honorable Mention in 1981, and All Tournament awards in both 1981 and 1982. He played on Junior Varsity for one year and then graduated to the Varsity for his sophomore, junior and senior years. Thomas went to CIF with his team in 1980, and wants to play basketball in college. He also has a points per game average of twenty-six.

Besides basketball, Thomas also enjoys other sports, and participates in his church's activities. When asked what he will remember most about Foothill after he graduates, the six foot six inch athlete replied; "Basketball . . . of course!"

"My parents played a large part in influencing me to pursue my interest in art," explained Marynn Morioka. Morioka won her first art contest when she was five years old.

She has designed everything from the ASB t-shirts, which won first place at leadership camp, to Sadie Hawkins and Homecoming dance tickets. Morioka has never had any type of art lessons. To her, artistic talent came naturally.

Morioka has entered and placed in several art contests.

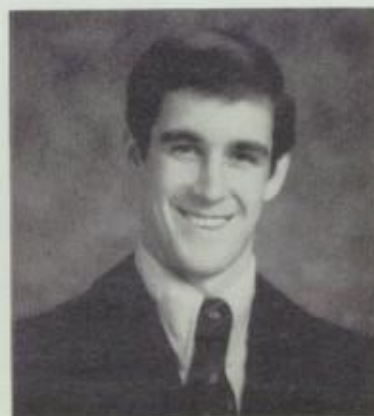

Hoping to develop her artistic ability in an unusual way, Morioka plans to enter college. She wants to become a medical illustrator, drawing illustrations of anatomical and surgical procedures for medical journals.

The traditional senior polls were taken in the fall, and the Class of '82 had a great time choosing their favorites.

Never before had the students taken such a positive approach toward the polls nor had they ever worked so hard to make them successful. The polls were taken in Economics and Civics classes, and the results are on the following pages.

Get ready because they are better than ever!!

Bottom: Clowning around, as usual, class pests Mike Monarch and Mary Jo Casey were caught in the act by Stan Thomas. (tsk-tsk)

senior favorites

Above: Most people don't get so dressed up, but that is what made Kit LaScala and Steve Parscheck the couple with the most class.

Left: Effort! The key word that made Jeff Schwartz and Margo Wasz the most intelligent.

Bottom: It was, like, so groovy and cool for Bito Borovinsky and Lynda Rand to be voted most conservative. It totally blew them away!

Right: Julie Nichol's "high voltage" has Davey Joe Long on his knees. (He couldn't be flirting, could he?) (class flirts)

The definition of success is, "to attain a desired end." For Mike Reynolds and Kim Rodgers, being voted "Most Likely to Succeed" meant these two were going places!! Both Reynolds and Rodgers were active on the ASB Cabinet and were chosen to represent Foothill at Boys' and Girls' State.

Some of Reynolds' activities included CSF President, water polo and swimming. His future goal was to further his education so that he might pursue a career in microbiology.

Rodgers was SHIELD editor-in-chief and an editor of the KNIGHT LIFE. She plans to seek a career in International Relations.

a success story

Left: Best body went to Lenny Goodsir and Laurie Bjorklund.

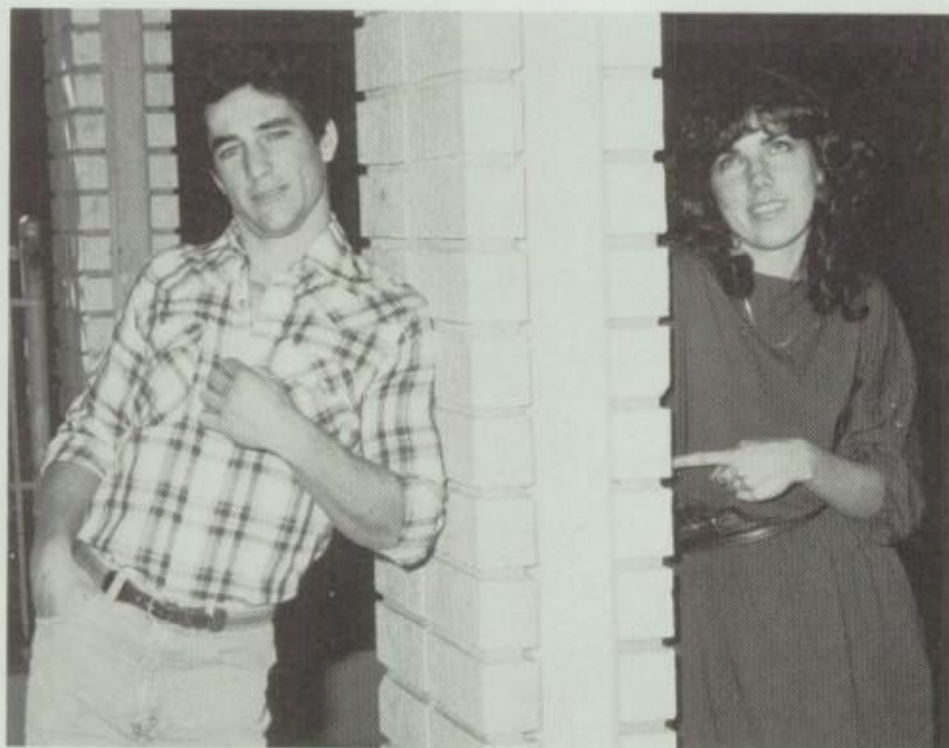

Above: Back from a shopping spree, Mary Manning and Rick Reilly are equipped with what it takes to be best dressed.

Ranging from class sweethearts to most uninhibited, the senior favorites were more successfully represented by the Class of 1982 than in years past. This was just one more area in which the graduating senior class stood out from the others and proved that they were indeed the pride of Foothill.

Above: Dave Baum and Elain Braun were not the stuck-up type. (best personality)

Right: The "eyes have it"; at least for Joe Long and Cathy Roy.

Below: Most Gullible went to Rich Selin and Leanne Johnson.

Talking to Indians in the marketplace, speaking Spanish, and climbing some of the country's highest peaks, are what Marc Lieberman has done. Lieberman spent two months in Ecuador.

Through the Americans Abroad (AFS), Lieberman was sent to live with a family in Ecuador. Lieberman became interested in AFS when an Australian student, Andy Biggs, came to the United States and lived at Foothill. Having Biggs stay at Lieberman's house was an educational experience for both. "While Biggs learned about the U.S., I learned about Australia," said Lieberman.

"I have lived in Tustin for 12 years and though Ecuador was a nice change, I'm glad to be home," said Lieberman.

"Dean is the best basketball player we've ever had!" said Coach Sheila Adams. Anne Dean is an athletic girl who made the Varsity Squad in basketball and volleyball for four years.

Of all the sports Dean has been involved with, she has enjoyed basketball the most because, "there is so much action and so many different dimensions to the game." Dean has not limited her athletic ability entirely to school athletics. She actively participated in the United States and Far West Developmental Basketball Leagues.

Although she was undecided as to which university she would be attending, Dean stated "I will definitely play college basketball."

Kozak was not only the Class of '82's freshman and senior president. He actively participated in Cross Country for four years and in track for three. As for future plans, Kozak explained "I'm undecided about the future, but I hope to see everyone in five years for the Class of '82 reunion."

One of the top tennis players in the United States was a Foothill student. Tim Pawsat and his partner were the number one doubles team.

Pawsat's tennis career started early — he has been playing for 11 years. He first became interested in tennis when he and his family started playing on weekends at local high schools. According to Pawsat, "The more I played, the more I wanted to get involved in the game."

Being a highly ranked tennis player has enabled Pawsat to travel to many states. He has had the opportunity to play against tennis pros such as Peter Fleming, Tom Gullicksen, John McEnroe, and Vince Van Patten.

In April, Pawsat and his partner played an exhibition game against Fleming and McEnroe, the number one men's team in the world.

Needless to say, varsity tennis coach, Bob Zeich believes, "Tim has professional potential."

In the summer of 1981, senior David Bliss attended a biological immunology laboratory. There he studied the causes of multiple sclerosis for ten weeks. Bliss then was tested and interviewed by the CAST committee for a laboratory scholarship. He was fortunate to pass these tests, as only 10% who try out do, and earned the privilege of working in a professional laboratory.

While attending the immunology lab in 1981, Bliss conducted his own experiment. His study was titled The Effects of Cytozan on the Synthesis of Immunoglobulin G in the Central Nervous System of Multiple Sclerosis Patients. Though his experiment was not successful, that did not discourage him, and he looks forward to a future in microbiology, and, he admitted with some humor, to experimenting with cloning.

Aside from science, Bliss was the captain of the Speech Team, and was ranked third on the Boys' Tennis Team.

"I believe it is time for lunch," growls Dave Bliss.

To many, music is something merely listened to on the radio. For senior Scott Doyle, music is a way of life.

Doyle was a member of the rock group Airbourne. It performed at everything from parties and concerts to school dances. The band played various types of music including forms of rock and jazz. During concerts Doyle preferred to play the drums and the keyboard.

Although there has not been one major influence in Doyle's musical career, his family encouraged him a great deal. He enjoyed listening to the radio which he felt "encouraged him quite a bit." He planned to go to college and to continue playing music. Explained Doyle, "At the moment I'm not really looking for a career because I'm all for music right now." He felt a musical career would be great but added, "the competition in the music industry is outrageous."

In the fall of 1981, seniors Joyce Steers, Lisa Drul, and Liz Butler, started their own company with a little help from Junior Achievement. J.A. is an organization which helps young people to start their own company. Each company is sponsored by a larger national company. Participating students make and sell their own products, buy and sell stocks in their company, and elect officers. The program lasts for 15 weeks and takes place each fall and spring. One can complete the program as many times as he wishes. Steers, Drul, and Butler's company was sponsored by the Atlantic Richfield Company and they produced personalized license plate rims. Steers was Vice President of Finance, and Butler was the President, and Drul was the National Achievers Association Officer. The girls had participated in the class before, making such items as pencils, pens, matchbooks and trivets.

extra, extra, read all about it

"Being editor-in-chief of a school newspaper is definitely not all fun and games," stated Mike Simanyi, editor of the Knight Life. Explained Simanyi, "As editor you have to take on a lot of responsibilities and know how to hurdle over them."

Simanyi was chosen editor of the Knight Life in May of 1981. Advisor Mary Helen Holditch was responsible for Simanyi obtaining the position. Although Simanyi had competition from an outstanding junior, he felt he was chosen because, "I've had more experience in working with layouts as sports editor last year. In addition, she'll have the opportunity when she's a senior."

Apart from working on the newspaper during school hours, Simanyi spent many hours after school working on paste-ups. He was the one responsible for making sure everything was perfect when it was time for the paper to go to print. According to Simanyi, "the job is what I had expected, maybe even a bit easier."

"The violin is a serene instrument to listen to, and I've learned a lot from playing it," said Jennifer Tidey, who first became interested in the violin while in kindergarten.

Tidey owns two violins, an Irish fiddle made in 1912 and an Anton Schuster, a German violin. "I really wanted a Stradivarius, but I've decided to go to college instead, since they can cost up to half a million dollars," she explained.

Her talent has been recognized with numerous honors and awards. During her freshman and sophomore years, she received the Mission Viejo Outstanding Orchestra Member award. The Southern California Band Association noticed Tidey for her solo and ensemble work. In addition, Tidey has received a certificate of merit from the Music Teachers' Association of California along with certificates from Bach and Suzuki festivals.

"I run mainly because it is just fun to do," explained Patience Unger. She felt that much of her running success was the result of Dan Thomas' coaching ability. According to Unger, "Coach Thomas influenced me in that he made me think I could do something, even if I really and truly couldn't."

While at Foothill, Unger won numerous awards and honors for her outstanding ability. For cross country she was awarded Knight of the Year 1980, Knight of the Year 1981, Most Inspirational 1979, and Most Valuable 1978. In track she was awarded Knight of the Year 1981, Most Valuable 1980, and Century League Runner of the Year for 1981.

Unger regretted nothing when it came to running. Of all the meets Unger participated in, she felt her most memorable meet was the CIF finals for track. In this meet, Unger reached the goal she had wanted since her early days of running. Unger placed fourth in the track two-mile, with a time of 10:44.

With a grade point average of 3.97, Bob Moore had the highest accumulative grade of the class of '82.

Moore was accepted and planned to attend U.C. Berkeley where he hoped to study biology. After leaving Berkeley, Moore looks forward to researching clones.

Being first in one's class is just a status people seek, Moore felt. "It's the difficulty of the classes taken and the education received, not your grade point average which is important. Many students have high GPA's this year, but have taken easy classes and have not received as good an education as I have," he explained.

"I loved New Zealand! Everyone was real warm and friendly. Everything was British; British customs, life style and also British sports." Although Schneider enjoyed visiting New Zealand, she was happy to return home and see her family again.

In Schneider's sophomore year at Foothill, she was on the cross country and JV field hockey teams. She planned to go to UCLA but was undecided about her future plans and goals.

Schneider will always have fond memories of New Zealand and it will hold a special place in her heart.

"Faster than a speeding bullet!" Well maybe not that fast, but 5'7" runner Jeff Williams is fast. Williams is so fast that he was one of the chosen few from California sent to compete in Taiwan.

For two and a half weeks in December 1981, Williams competed in Taiwan. Williams said that the Taiwan team was not as well trained as the California team. "I realized what great coaching I've had when I saw how ill-coached the Taiwan team was." He did well, taking first place in one race and placing third in the overall competition.

Williams was not ready to reveal what college he wished to go to, but said he wanted to major in communications and minor in coaching. "I'd like to keep in touch with running even after I no longer run competitively, and coaching is a way to do this," said Williams. However, he hoped to continue competing while in college.

"I'll never forget what a great experience Foothill has been, at least until next year," joked Williams.

reynolds raps with foothill

Peter Van Horn

Mike Reynolds believes in getting involved. He said, "Man's greatest ability is his mind, and people who do not use their minds and get involved, have lost out on a big part of life."

Reynolds was certainly involved at Foothill as president of both CFS and the Varsity Club. He was also the student representative to the Tustin Board of Education. His list of accomplishments included being one of Foothill's top swimmers and a member of its water polo team. Reynolds was the recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution Scholarship, an honor voted on by one's classmates to be given to an involved, sociable student with good grades.

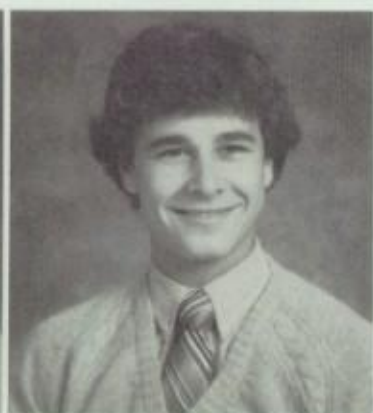

An excellent student, Reynolds hoped to continue his studies at Stanford.

the seniors of the future

foothill; the final exam. underclassmen of 1981-1982

Their four year mission?
To explore strange new careers,
To seek out new lives and new civilizations,
To boldly go where no student has gone before.

While on a journey through Foothill one will come across creatures known as freshmen. A freshman is a "green student" new to high school and maturity.

Another strange creature is the second year freshman, better known as a sophomore. A dangerous creature when allowed a license to drive a horseless carriage.

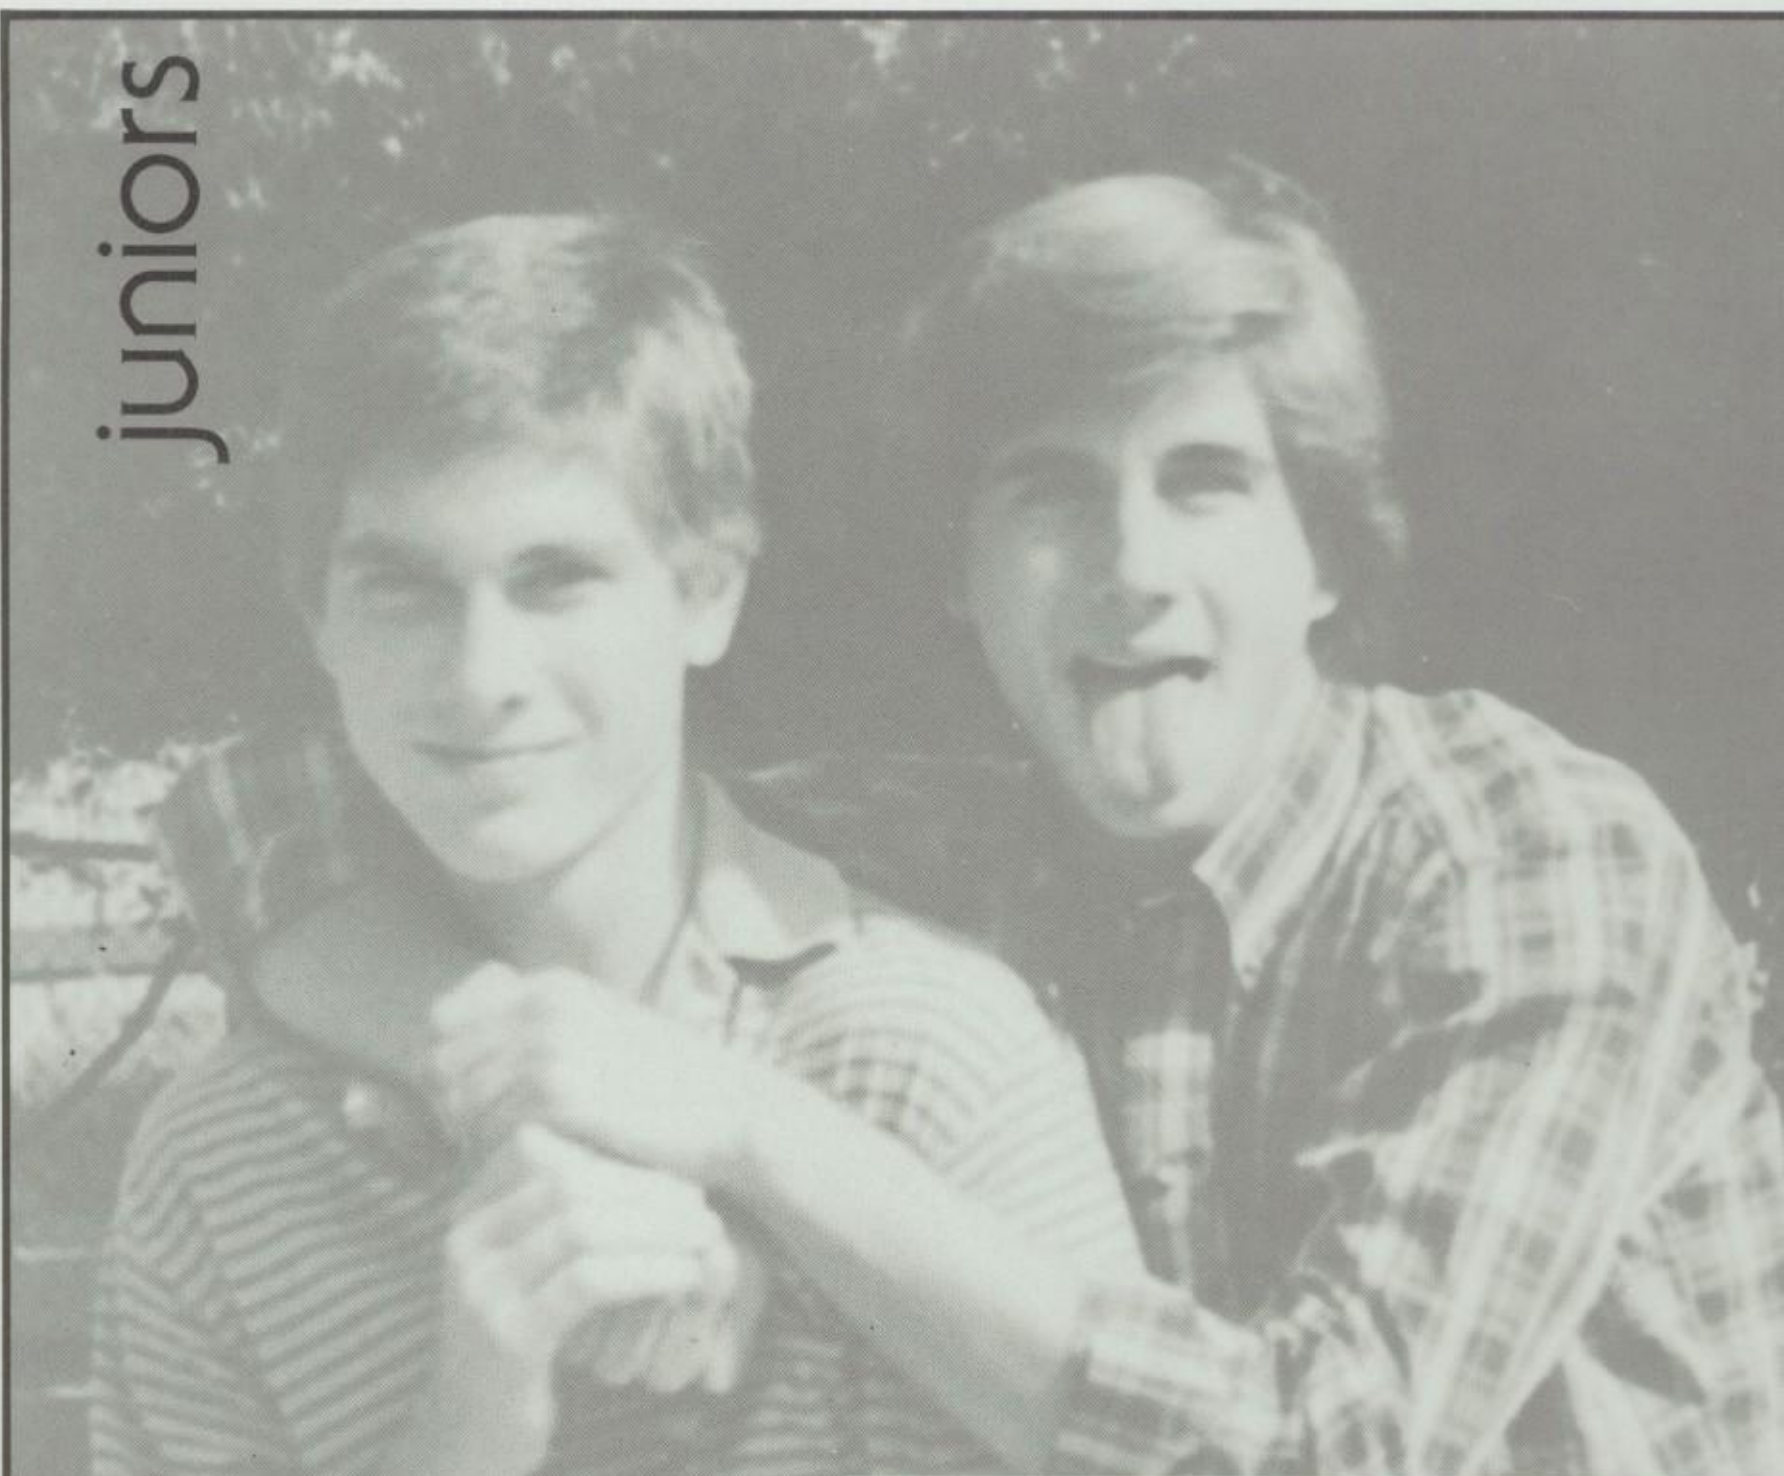

The freshman and sophomore creatures are often segregated in classes and sports. "A reason for this," a specimen called a senior said, "is for the well being and sanity of all other life organisms here at Foothill."

Another breed of classmate here at Foothill is the junior, a hard working creature beginning to take the necessary tests to plan for the future. Juniors are proud of themselves and believe themselves superior. However, the senior specimen described the juniors, "as superior as amoebas."

These different breeds of creatures as a group are known as the underclassmen. These species are made up of what at Foothill is known as "everyday heroes." One will not see these creatures on television or in a comic book; they do not fly or leap tall buildings in a single bound, but they are a group of clever individuals who represent the future.

They are the Knights of Foothill.

Considering the numerous responsibilities of the Junior class, they "had a pretty good year," according to class president Andy Holden.

The major activity the class was in charge of was the Junior/Senior Prom. Holden and his council began their search for the location during the summer and decided the Newport Marriott was the ideal place. The next thing they had to do in organizing the dance was to find a band. They chose one of the student's favorites, "Surge."

Another event the juniors organized and participated in was Junior Recognition Day. They chose Disneyland as their theme, and made a good showing at Homecoming.

marching major

If you ever saw Foothill's band at a parade or a football game, then you saw Brian Wilson. Brian was Foothill's drum major.

To become a drum major, Brian went to a drum major's clinic and competed against eight other students. Being Foothill's drum major takes many long hours of dedication and practice, because unlike most schools, Foothill picks its drum major for leadership as well as mace control.

Brian had a 3.65 grade point average and was also dedicated to his studies. He hoped to go to a major university to continue his studies, as well as to be a drum major.

Though school and band occupied most of Brian's time, whenever he had a chance he liked to participate in his favorite hobbies. Brian enjoys racing speed boats and playing the trumpet. Brian continued as drum major for the 1982-83 school year.

we're in vogue

New York may be the fashion center of the United States, but Foothill is the fashion center of Tustin. Alligators, cowboy boots, and mini-shirts were all found on Foothill's campus. When one looked at some of the students at Foothill, it was the next best thing to looking at European Vogue.

At Foothill, style was a major part of a student's life. The Preppies could be found wearing Polo Izod, and plaid pants. Clashing pink shirts and green pants were a favorite among boys; the Bermuda bag was a favorite of the girls.

Mini-skirts and metallics were favorites of the Punk Rockers. Boys, into the Punk scene, wore combat boots and leather jackets.

Cowboys and cowgirls formed another group who wore cowboy hats and boots.

6x4=4.0

Most people believe 4.0 students are boring and dull. People believe they spend their entire lives studying and never once go to a party or a football game. However there is an interesting 4.0 student named Kevin Tolsma.

Though Tolsma enjoys school, he is also interested in electronics and computers. His other main interest is cooking; a relaxing way to use his creative energy. Although Tolsma does not wish to make his living by being a chef he felt it would help him to be a better student in college, because he would be able to avoid dorm food.

Tolsma was looking forward to a future at the University of Michigan or U.C. Berkeley, studying business administration. While at college, Tolsma hoped to take a deeper look into the mechanics of computers. As the vice president of Foothill's Computers Club, Kevin was fascinated with computers. Many years from now, Tolsma believed everything would be run by computers.

a touch of art

As president of the Art Club, Eric Nelson was actively involved in the painting of Foothill's most recent mural.

Nelson was part of the GATE program and has won numerous contests. He is also an excellent student and hopes to become a commercial artist. He has worked mostly with pencils, charcoal, and pastels.

He enjoys being able to create works of art. "Art is a way to express oneself," explained Nelson. "Some people sing, some dance, others write, and I draw or paint."

Nelson recommends drawing to anyone who is patient and enjoys being creative. "To see the finished product of the art one created, gives a feeling of accomplishment," he stated.

sophomores

1982 was an excellent year to be a sophomore. Led by their class president, Tom Monarch, the sophomores have shown incredible spirit in assemblies and in Homecoming activities.

The majority of the class dressed up in their scariest and most original attire to fit their Homecoming theme of Halloween.

They were also spirited in their attempt to earn money. The class of 1984 sponsored a New Year's dance and sold coupon books to successfully raise money for their class.

nightie-knight

Most of us can read a story out of a book, but how many of us can read a story in the stars? Astronomy is a serious hobby for sophomore, Karl Keranen, and he could tell many night time stories.

Keranen has been stargazing since he was five years old and plans to make a career of it. He aspires to be a professor of astronomy, and owns a reflector telescope. He has been taking pictures through this telescope since November of 1981. Keranen has taken pictures of Saturn and star constellations, which, he felt, came out quite well. He was also very active in Northhill's Astronomy Club, being both Art Director and Manager of Publicity.

at the end of his rope

The Sophomore Class of 1982 included many active sportsmen and women. Doug Wetton is one of these talented athletes.

Wetton is an active member of the Lake Arrowhead Waterskiing Club, and has won many awards and trophies. In 1978, he was National Waterskiing Champion, and in 1979, came in third in the same national competition. Wetton also spent a month in Australia, with the United States Waterskiing Team, studying and perfecting his sport. "One of the best things about running," said sophomore Amy Cox, "is the competition, and you also meet a lot of terrific people." According to Cox, "The training is really tough, but fun and very rewarding."

Cox has been running since junior high. She says that she never feels as good as when she is running, and when she stops running competitively, she expects that she will take up jogging.

Cox was one of the real heroes of the 1981-82 track team. Cox planned to attend either San Luis Obispo, or Cal. Poly. There she hoped to compete on a more competitive basis.

master of 88 keys

Meeting first period each morning in the music room the madrigals had three pianists, one of whom was Karen Ramseyer.

When Ramseyer places or wins, at a competition, she feels very pleased. "I am happy that my efforts have paid off," she commented. "It takes a lot of discipline to practice two hours a day,".

After she graduates, Karen plans to attend UCLA and major in science and medicine. Ramseyer believes knowing how to play the piano will help her in college, as it will be a way to relax before a test.

"the pied piper"

Anybody who has been to any of the parades that Foothill's band has competed in will know that besides the usual drum major, and majorette, we also had a bagpiper, Nancy Duncan.

1981-82 was the first year Duncan piped for the band. "She's a beginner, but she shows potential," said Mr. Waibel, the band director. "I'm glad that she decided to play bagpipes for us this year."

Duncan enjoys playing the pipe. "They're harder than flute, and I'm not as good," admitted Duncan, "but a lot more rewarding."

crash course

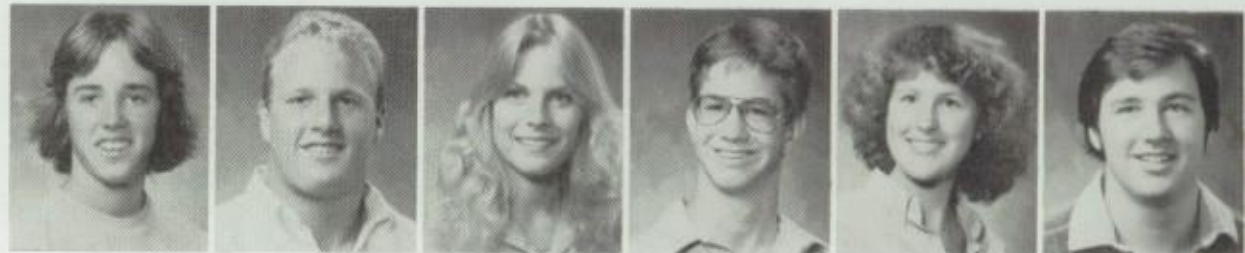

The sophomores of 1982 went through the same fears as all the sophomores before them. Learning to drive is, at first, scary and complicated. Not everyone is blessed with understanding parents, and pulling dear old Dad into the car to practice is quite a task. The moment he gets in the car, he straps himself in with the seatbelt, and clings to the dashboard. This, of course, makes one feel even more nervous, as one's knuckles turn white around the steering wheel. After months of practice, the best is yet to come. Taking the test at the Department of Motor Vehicles is the part no one wants to remember. The instructor is always three hundred pounds, with a gruff voice and a mean face. That experience makes everyone nervous, but telling one's parents about "minor fender-benders" is worse. It is difficult to explain that one must make mistakes to learn. Driving becomes easy with time, but until then, the new drivers of 1982 are out on the road . . . practicing!

Every year the junior high school ships us a new batch of freshmen. They are branded as immature, incompetent, and short. What students fail to realize is what a spirited freshman class we had.

With Greg Campbell to lead them, the enthusiastic freshman class walked with their heads held high, making them each at least an inch taller. Freshman Recognition Day was a complete success with the theme "Crime does not pay." Foothill's quad looked like a frame from an old gangster movie.

Class of '85, welcome to the sophomore class.

Oh, to fear the fears freshman fear. "The seniors are so big. I hear they love to can freshmen."

A survey was taken to find out how many seniors have actually canned freshmen.

"My friends and I tried to find out how many freshmen would fit in one can, we stopped after seven," replied a senior on the wrestling team.

"One time, I trashed 37 freshmen while hopping on one foot," replied one girl gymnast.

Yes, we all fear the fears freshmen fear once in our lives, but luckily only once.

Dancing takes an enormous amount of dedication. To Erika Bliss this means at least five hours of practice every day. Bliss, plans to be a famous ballerina like her idol Natalia Makarova.

Bliss has danced for the Irvine Institute of Dance Arts, and performed in January of '82 with Valley West in the Nutcracker Suite. When asked about her future, Bliss replied, "I hope to dance with a professional company in New York."

unique but talented

At the beginning of the school year, a unique freshman entered Foothill. His name is Jean Mendiola, but his friends call him Donny.

Mendiola has been playing cello for eight years and has been in the Orange County Youth Symphony Orchestra for three. Mendiola also plays bells for the Foothill Marching Band, and says, "I like being a part of the band. It's like one big, happy family."

is she crazy?

Who was that freshman with the calculus book in her hand? It had to be Gina Jenschke, the only freshman in calculus, normally an all senior class. Gina was an extremely intelligent freshman with a 3.7 grade point average, Gina hopes to study medicine. She looks forward to getting her medical degree at the University of California at Irvine.

"babes in toyland"

Yearbook, usually made up of 11th and 12th graders, made a change in 1981 and let in three promising freshmen.

These students, Kadi Fairbairn, Elizabeth Hamilton, and Jim Stewart, came into the class knowing nothing about producing yearbooks. Surprisingly they caught on quickly. Fairbairn and Hamilton were on the academics staff, while Stewart was on the activities staff.

a beauty in our midst

On June 5, 1973, Ann Johnson entered her first beauty contest. Since that day, Johnson has won 27 trophies and was voted "Miss Petite" in Kentucky when she was eight years old.

Johnson was an active member of the Foothill marching band, and is another example of why Foothill students are every day heroes.

index and advertising

and now
a word from our

Each year, every member of the yearbook staff is given a territory in which to sell advertisements. Staff members approach potential buyers, and suggest that they buy advertising space in the Sheild. Common answers range from "Not today, we are having financial problems," to "We have already bought from Tustin High School."

If the staff were to accept these excuses, the result would be a plain covered, black and white yearbook. With this thought in mind, the staff solicitors resort to various tricks. Some talk until the buyer gives up and buys an ad and some peace and quiet; some sweet talk businesses into it; others simply beg.

The Sheild staff would like to thank our sponsors for their contributions to Foothill's 1982 Sheild.

The Gift of Friendship

Friendship is a priceless gift that cannot be bought or sold,
But its value is far greater than a mountain made of gold —
For gold is cold and lifeless, it can neither see nor hear,
And in the time of trouble it is powerless to cheer —
It has no ears to listen, no heart to understand,
It cannot bring you comfort or reach out a helping hand —
So when you ask God for a gift, be thankful if he sends not diamonds, pearls or riches, but the love of real true friends.

Helen Steiner Rice

Miss Yetter,

Thank you for your love, friendship, and patience
throughout the years.

Love,

Students who won awards and achieved certain goals, deserved to be remembered in Students News.

Some students who fell under this category were the Boys and Girls of the Month, chosen by the counselors and teachers. They were students who had achieved certain goals contributing to school activities, sports, and academics. Another honor along these lines was awarded to Susan Kilgore and Dave Nesbitt, Boys' and Girls' State delegates, held in Sacramento, Boys' and Girls' State teaches students about the government and how it is run.

An important award was the National Merit Scholarship awards. The finalists from Foothill were Jeff Akin, Leslie Andrews, Elizabeth Gutrecht, Michelle Lusin, Robert Moore, Jeff Schwartz, Margot Wasz, and Eugene Wirkin.

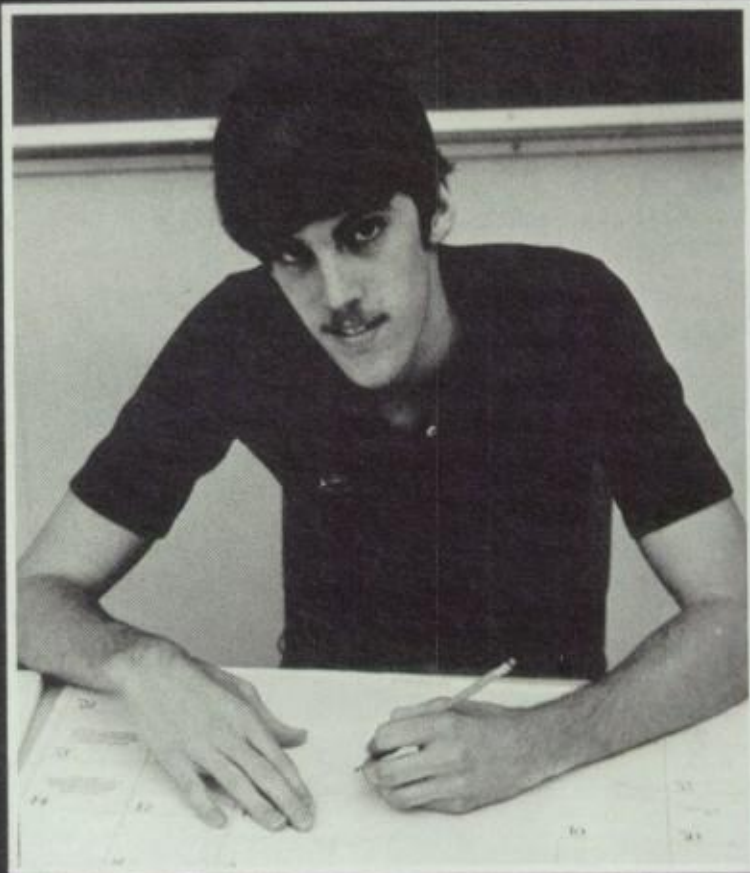

Talented senior Kim Rodgers won the talent contest in the Miss Southern California National Teenager Pageant by doing a dramatic interpretation. She went on to compete in the Miss California Pageant.

Also being featured are the Sophomore OCAD team. Its members were Doreen Bear, Andrea Boseker, Wendy Burlingame, David Gates, Brian Sheehy, and Robert Yount. To be on this team, one must take tests in English, mathematics, and science. Then they are placed into divisions according to their GPA.

Students who strive to be outstanding at something deserve praise and admiration, and that is why they have been featured in Student News.

world news

1981-82 was filled with many tragic happenings. Four well-known people died. Anwar Sadat was assassinated by a group of Muslim fanatics during a parade in Cairo. John Belushi, a well known comedian and actor, died in March, 1982, from an overdose of drugs. At the age of 65, Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxer, died after years of sickness and grief. Moshe Dayan died of a heart attack at the age of 66.

On the positive side, the space shuttle was successful in its attempt to prove the potential use of this great spacecraft. In sports, our own Dodgers became the World Champions of baseball, behind the pitching of Fernando Valenzuela, the rookie screwballer from Mexico. In politics, Sandra Day O'Connor became the first woman to be appointed to the United States Supreme Court. The Royal Wedding took place in July of '81 in England. Prince Charles married Lady Diana Spencer in St. Paul's Cathedral. This was considered, by most, the wedding of the Century.

Life is all memory, except for the one present moment that goes by you so quickly you hardly catch it going.

Tennessee Williams
THE MILK TRAIN DOESN'T STOP HERE ANYMORE (1963)

Football! Basketball! Cross Country! Foothill was Century League champs in all of these sports. They provided excitement and produced school unity as everyone gathered to root for the team. These things people remember.

Would anyone remember Coach Ted Mullen claiming in August of 1981 that he was simply building a team for 1982? Or does anyone recall the tears that streamed down his face as the preparation period turned into a championship season?

Does anyone remember the caring at Foothill competitions which showed, as a winner would be congratulated by his peers, who could not be called losers because they were winners too?

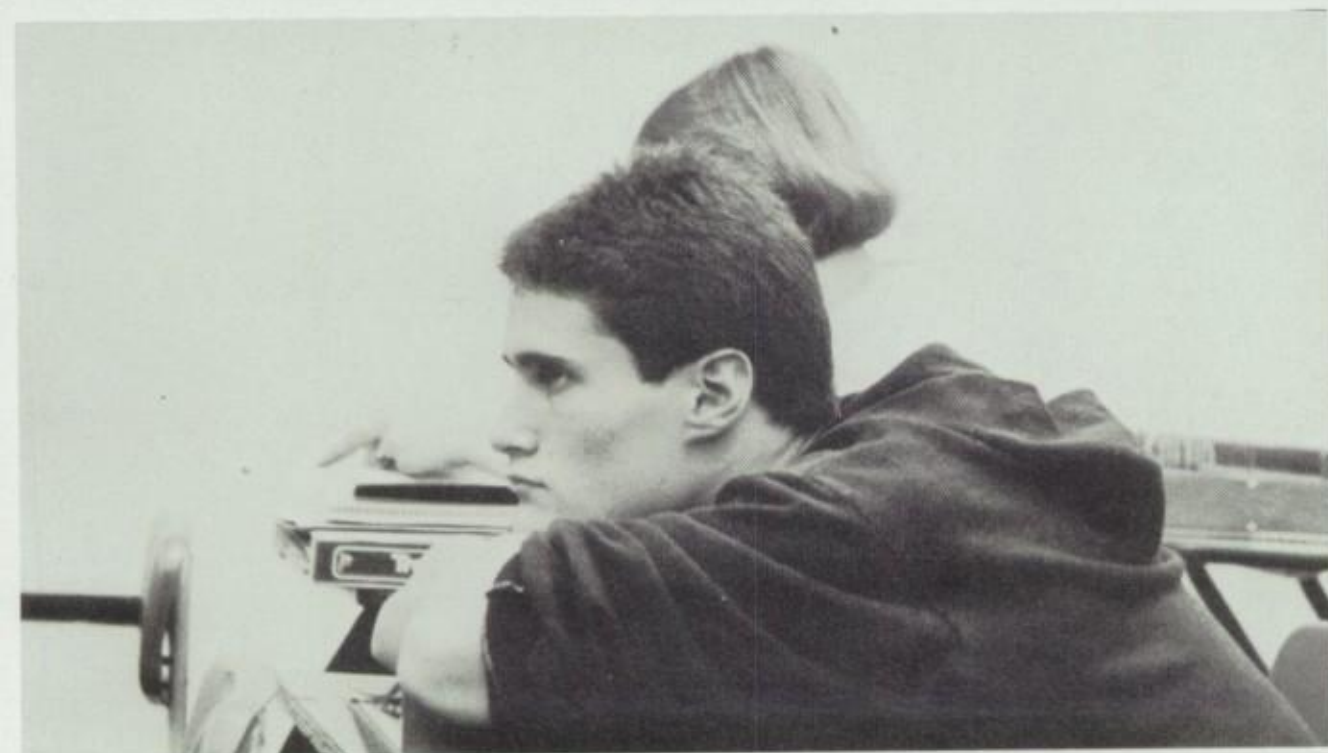

The togetherness which existed at Foothill between the teachers and the students is what Williams speaks of, for although many great things occurred at Foothill that will always be at the top of a student's mind, it is often the deeper, more personal times, which happen so fast, that are the most valuable.

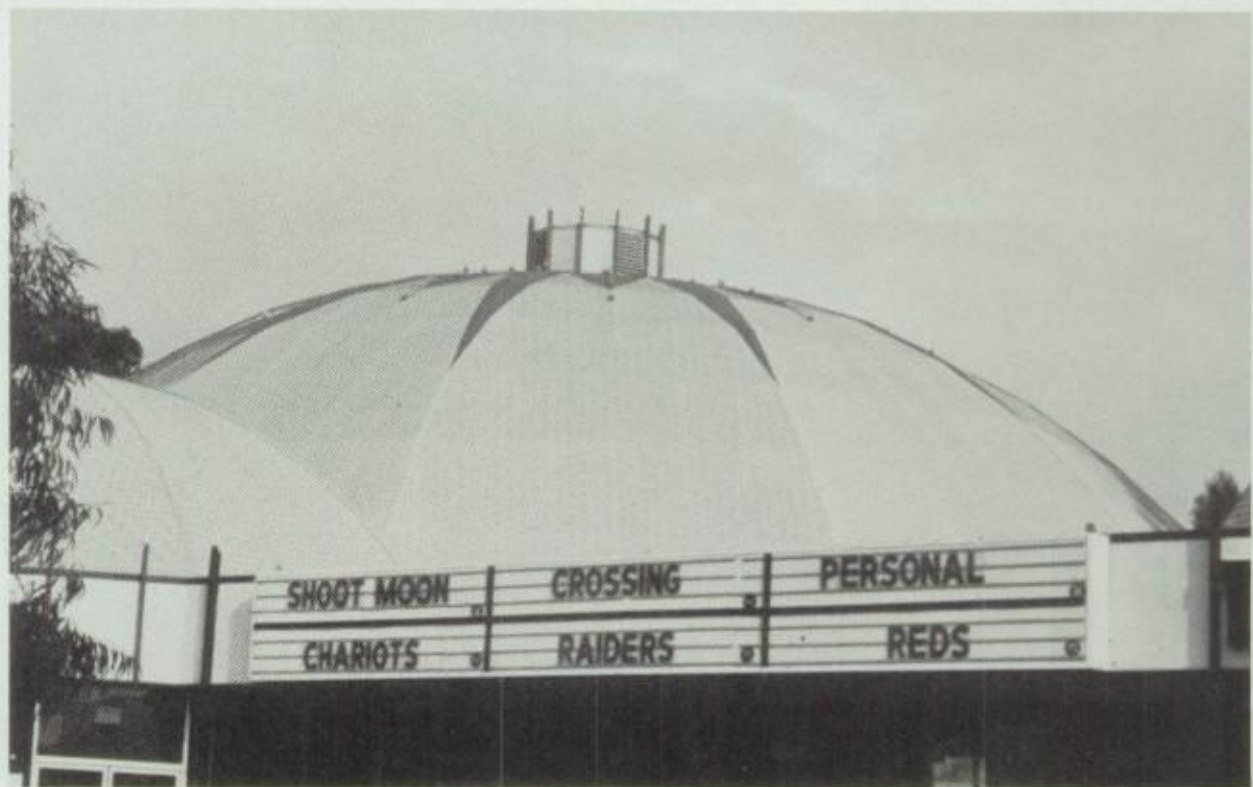

Left: Being part of the band will always be a fond memory for Rob Roy, Greg Jennings, and Robert McFerson.

southern california

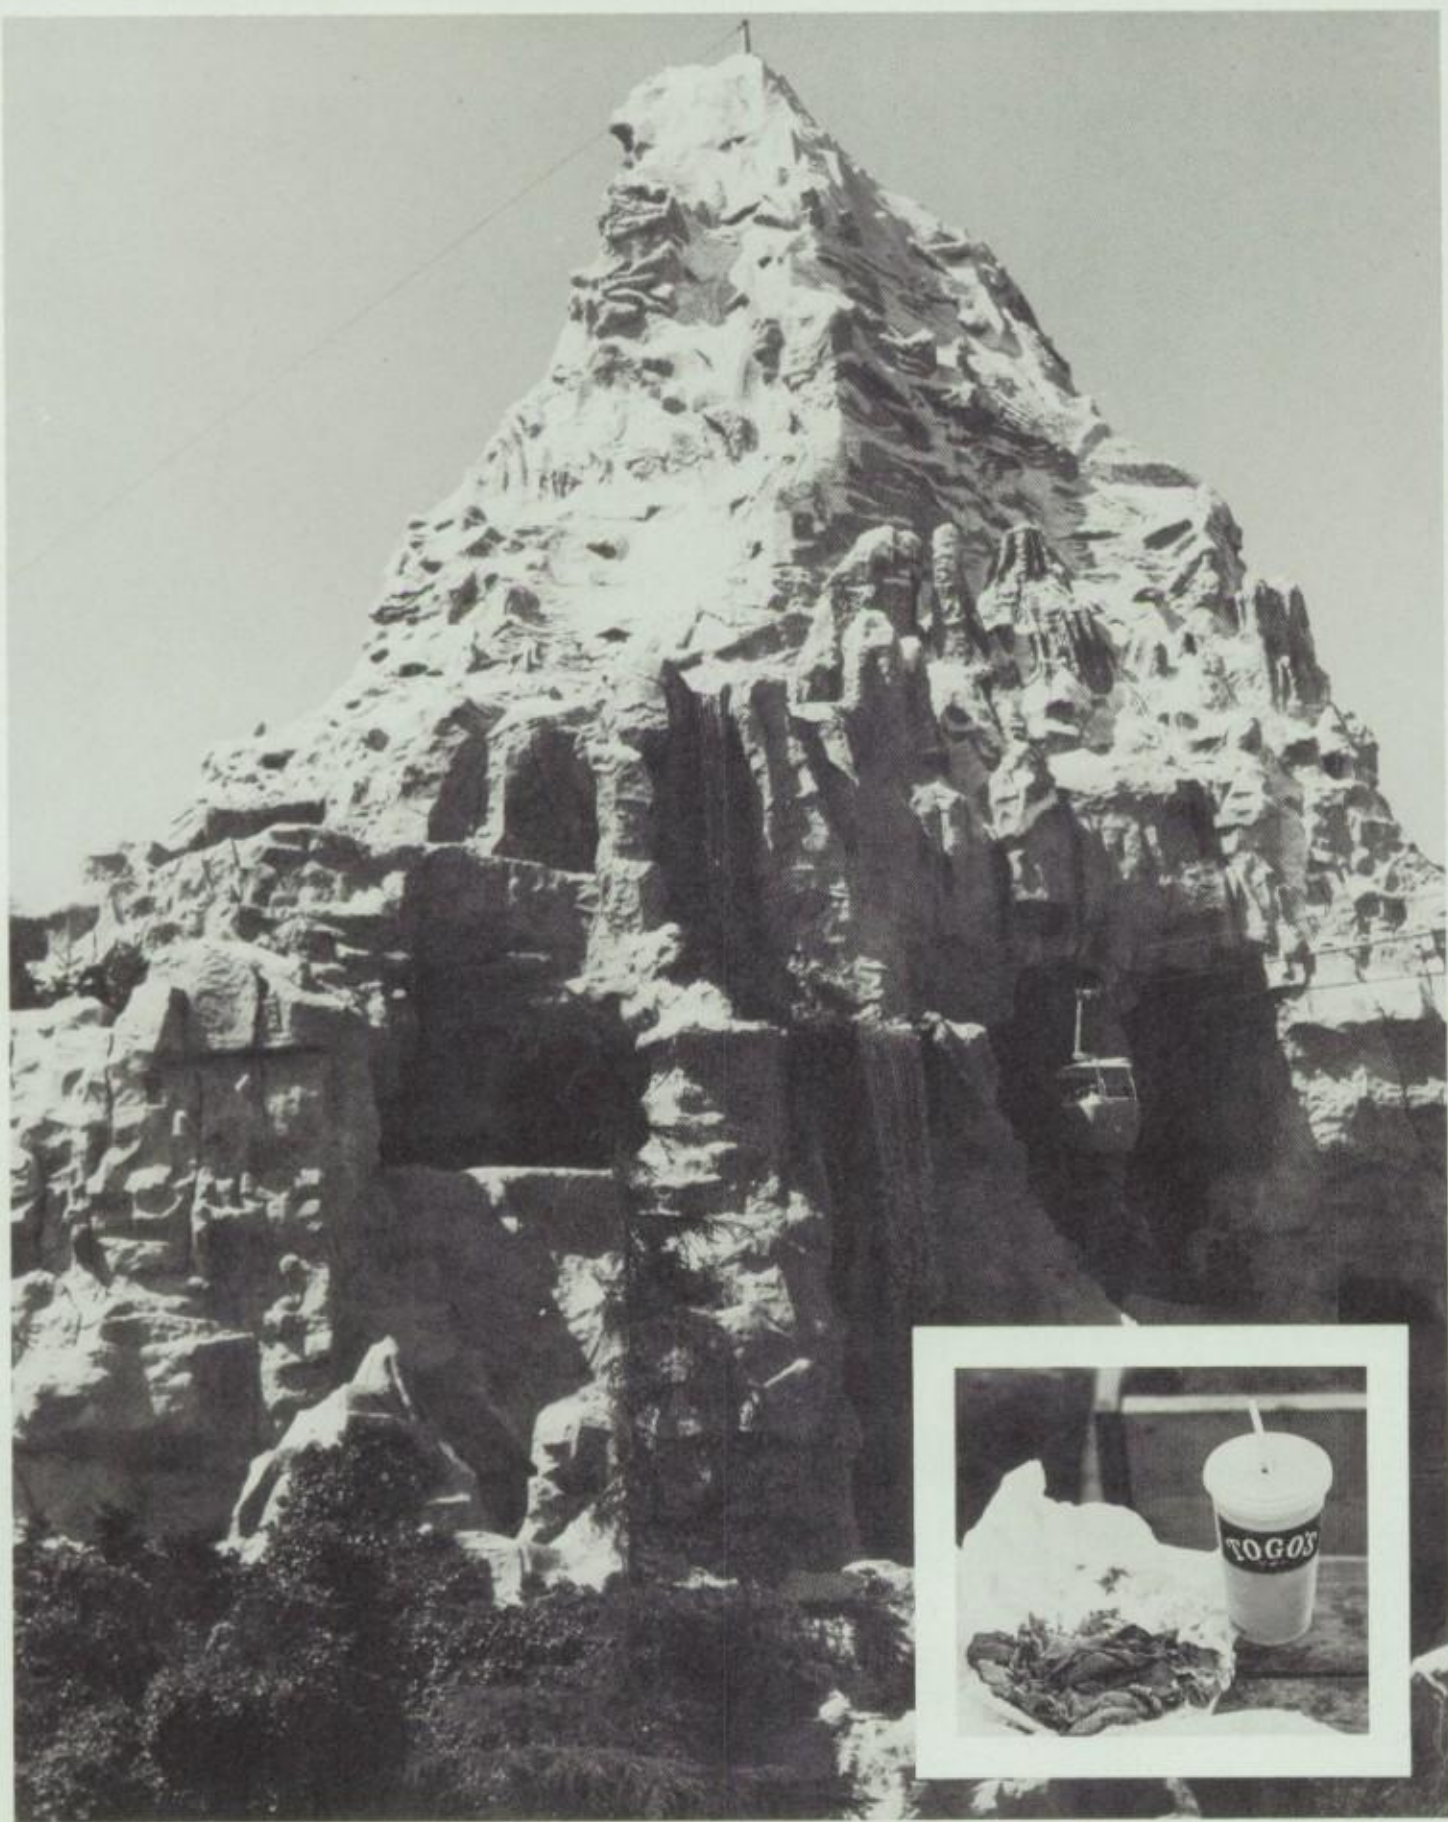

There is no place like home.
— Dorothy and Toto
The Wizard of Oz.

Southern California — is there any place like it? The answer is no. Where else could one hit the beach, soak up some sun, do a little swimming, and then two hours later, be skiing up at Big Bear? However, there is more to Southern California than just swimming and skiing.

Foothill students have spent many fun-filled hours at Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm, and Magic Mountain. Of course, there was also miniature golfing, bowling, dancing, and parties. On Friday nights students gathered at the Cinedome to watch their favorite award winning movies.

It seemed that the only drawback to Southern California (besides the smog) was the traffic. But the endless tie ups and the bumper to bumper traffic did not lessen the enjoyment of living in Southern California for Foothill's heroes.

saying goodbye

It matters not so much where we stand as in which direction we are going.

— Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr.

For the Class of '82, high school is over. The goodbyes have been said to the favorite teacher, and to the lab partner who is going to Harvard. Now it is time to look ahead.

Many will continue their education in college; others may hop right into the job market, (and still others will bum off their parents for the next year, but we will not speak of them). However, despite all of the goodbyes, the memories will remain: the first date, the first dance and for many, the first taste of independence. With these, Foothill's everyday heroes can confidently say "hello" to the future.

Heroism has no model.
— Louis Antoine Leon
De Saint-Just, 1794

Foothill students have always been individuals who refuse to conform to a general idea. This is what makes them everyday heroes.

As they set their own goals and met them, Foothill students made a name for themselves as high achievers. Although some students did not receive good grades or excel in athletics, it did not matter. For despite who one was or what he did, he will always be an everyday hero.
